By the Associated Press.
PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 14.—With quiet prevailing at the Keystone Steel and Wire Plant today, the militia reserve units are awaiting orders to march to the mills in South Bartonville, a suburb, in order to prevent further clashes between strikers and Deputy Sheriff Frank Sommers, 19, son of P. W.
Sommers, assistant general superintendent. They were shot at the plant late in the afternoon in an automobile with other officials of the company.

Gov. Frank O. Lowden later ordered the Tenth Illinois Infantry, commanded by Col. C. P. Yeager of Danville, to Peoria for riot duty.

Conference Is Held.
A conference of executives of the Keystone company with Adjutant General Dickson, other State militia officers and Mayor Woodruff of Peoria, in an effort to reach an agreement that might settle the strike, ended six o'clock with the announcement by Gen. Dickson that there is nothing to announce.

It was indicated that steps toward an amicable settlement had been made, however, in the statement of W. J.
Sommers, vice president and general superintendent of the company, that "later we expect to make a statement that will clear the air."

Strikers in groups are picketing the mills, but strikebreakers did not appear today.

Shots During the Night.
Several shots were exchanged during the night between guards and strikers, but early today there is no sign of further disorder.

Early today several explosions, believed to be dynamite blasts, shook the works of the Keystone plant.
The blasts were inside of the guarded works of the mill, as admitted by officials of the company, but the extent of the damage had not been made known.

Trouble dates back two months, when the employees struck for higher wages and a closed shop.
The company granted an increase in wages, but declined to recognize the union.

When several hundred strikers and sympathizers charged upon the Keystone plant last night, a handful of deputy sheriffs, who have been guarding the plant since a strike of 50 workers has been in progress for several weeks, fought off the rioters. Police power in the district is vested in the Sheriff, who then conferred with a representative of the Governor's office concerning the question of calling out troops. Sporadic outbreaks yesterday resulted in the shooting and slightly wounding of two strikers who had fired on the deputies.

Object to Strikebreakers.
The first outbreak came when a truck load of strikebreakers was carried to the plant under protection of deputy sheriffs. The rioters charged and it was only after a sharp clash that they were driven off.

The first shots were fired by a special deputy, one of a force of armed men sent yesterday by the deputy Sheriff Hines. The deputy is reported to have fired nine shots before an answering volley was returned by the strikers. When the strikebreakers arrived Sheriff Hines and his deputies dismounted. The latter were armed with revolvers, and the strikebreakers received clubs and baseball bats. The trucks came to a stop in front of the gates, where obstructions had been piled by the strikers and a crowd of more than 1000 men and women surged forward. While the obstructions were being removed, an unidentified woman threw a rock through a window of the automobile in which Representative Charles W. Lapsort, counsel for the company was riding.

The crowd was dispersed but formed again when time came for officials to leave the plant. Shooting was renewed and it was in this outbreak that the Sommers were wounded.

The principal outbreak at night followed the shooting of a woman by a sniper near the plant. She was only slightly injured. Women sided with the rioters and hurled missiles at the strikebreakers and deputies.

Shortly after 8 o'clock last night the immediate vicinity of the plant was deserted, but in the bushes and trees on the hillside were hundreds of strikers, armed with rifles and shotguns, who kept firing into the plant. Return volleys of shots from within the plant were frequent. This was true until eleven o'clock.

Taxes Increased Rents, So Rents Will Increase Taxes

St. Louis Landlords Who Advanced Rates Will Now Have to Pay More, City Assessor Says.

Many St. Louis landlords have raised rents "because of increased taxes," as they have said in their notifications to tenants.

Now the city is going to raise their taxes because of increased rents.

The landlords' plea of "increased taxes" was a joke in many cases, City Assessor Wollbrink said today.

But it is going to be made a real and earnest matter.

"One landlord increased the rent $10 a month, on the plea that taxes on the property had been increased," Wollbrink said to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "The tenant came to this office and learned that the landlord's increase in taxes had been $6 a year, or 50 cents a month."

Will Increase Valuations.
"But when that landlord gets his next year's tax bill, he is going to find that his increased income from the property has been taken into account in a new valuation."

"Many tenants have written to this office, complaining of unreasonable increases in rents, and in nearly every case they have said that increased taxation was given as a reason."

"District assessors are now engaged in fixing the valuations on striking union men, in a statement today, said:

"We are sorry that this trouble has come up and that it has gone as far as it has. In our belief no individual among the men could have averted the trouble."

"If only way it could have been avoided was by the officials of the company themselves giving a reasonable showing to the men."

In a statement officials of the Keystone company said they were responsible for the clash between strikers and strikebreakers and special Deputy Sheriffs.

"To protect the interests of our stockholders and because we manufacture a seizable product which is marketable only at certain periods of the year, it became necessary for us to resume operations at once despite the strike," said an official of the company.

"Had we not opened the plant," he said, "some one else would have."
This morning we thought to Peoria 125 men conversant with sheet metal trades from the Chicago district.

"We shall not discriminate between union men and nonunion men in the operation of our plant, but we refuse to do business with the union. On the other hand, we believe in collective bargaining and there will be no objection to the men having shop committees."

RESERVATIONISTS CLAIM ASSURANCE OF SUPPORT FROM ADMINISTRATION

reservationists meeting at "key peace, full" and said there was no recurrence of the bitter argument of yesterday. In the end, it was said, the decision to see the President developed by practically unanimous agreement.

Although the committee had planned to take up amendments to the treaty with a view to an early report to the Senate the proposal to take up further amendments was dropped. The President occupied all of today's session. It was said proposed amendments would be taken up tomorrow and the examination of witnesses expected to continue as long as possible.

Democratic members were understood to have opposed the calling of all witnesses on the ground that virtually every Senator had made up his mind how he would vote, and that public sentiment demanded that a vote in the Senate should not be unduly delayed.

Meantime the group of Republicans who have agreed on a reservation program continued their effort to enlarge their number under the spur of what they considered assurances that their plan would have the support of the administration. Information did not come from Senator Hitchcock, the Democratic leader, but they declared they were satisfied with its authenticity.

It was said yesterday that as soon as the group of Republicans favoring reservations could pledge a score of Republican votes for reservations along that side of the question, the administration forces in the Senate would be willing to line up on that basis for ratification. Reservationists also intimated that their rank eventually would include Senator Lodge.

Twenty Republicans "It was declared, would be enough with the administration Democrats to make the two-thirds necessary for ratification.
The program on which it is sought to unite these elements contemplates reservations to further protect the Monroe Doctrine, to insure domestic control over domestic questions, to amplify the right of withdrawal, and to fortify the power of Congress to decide questions of peace or war under Article 10.

It was declared the information that Democrats were in a receptive mood toward such a proposal came from a source considered entirely authoritative. Senator Hitchcock declared that he had taken part in any such negotiations and said his favorable opinion of the plan was based on evidence of unreserved ratification remained unaltered. Senator Lodge also denied that he had given assent to the proposed reservations.

Want Bills and Home Called.
Senators Johnson of California and Hornbeck of Idaho wrote a letter to Chairman Lodge yesterday asking that Gen. Hines, E. M. House and others connected with the Versailles negotiations be asked to appear before the committee.

After they heard from the Democratic reservationists, they will make a report to the committee.

"These assessors are working on the theory that the value of real estate is determined by its income, and that if a residence or apartment yields a higher rent than it did a year ago, its taxable value is greater."

Tenants Are Questioned.
"Because of our knowledge that many rents have been increased, the assessors, especially in the apartment house districts, are making particular inquiries to learn how the rental on each piece of property compares with that of last year. They are getting this information from tenants in most cases."

The district assessors have thus far made an increase of about $4-000,000 in assessments, chiefly of apartment house property, on the South Side and in the West End.

"This office will be glad to get information from persons whose property has been increased, as we do not wish to overlook any landlords who merit an increase in assessment."

"Landlords who take appeals from this office to the Board of Equalization will be met with special attention, showing this year's rent and the former rent."

crates the reservationists began a poll to ascertain just how many of their party they could count on in their negotiations.

It was asserted there had been several additions to the group, but no Senator has publicly announced his adherence to the plan since it was agreed on by the original seven Senators—McCumber, North Dakota; McNary, Oregon; Kellogg, Minnesota; Colt, Rhode Island; Cummins, Iowa; Lenroot, Wisconsin; and Spencer, Missouri.

The exact basis for their hope that Senator Lodge will join in the movement was not revealed by the reservation leaders. It was pointed out, however, that the addition of Senator Lodge did not preclude rejection of the league entirely, but outlined objections to the covenant provisions dealt with by the proposed reservations. In one instance he spoke of "changing" one of these provisions.

Friends of the foreign relation chairman have declared that he would insist at least on reservations or amendments "with teeth in them," and that he would not join the committee who want to defeat the league covenant entirely declared they were confident Lodge would vote with them in that proposal.

Senators Hall and Moses also are understood to have suggested the calling of more witnesses before the Foreign Relations Committee. Senator Fall is said to have declared yesterday that the committee should not be expected to intelligently consider all the obligations embodied in the treaty until the other treaties being negotiated at Versailles were before the Senate.

People Anxious, Says Hitchcock.
Senator Hitchcock told the committee that virtually every Senator had made up his mind how he would vote, and that the country wanted the treaty disposed of one way or another.

Senators Johnson and Borah are understood to have suggested in their letter that the committee also hear C. R. Williams, former chief of the State Department's far Eastern Division, S. K. Hornbeck, and William C. Bullitt, all advisers to the commission who resigned while the negotiations were in progress. It has been reported that Messrs. Williams and Hornbeck left the commission because of the Shantung settlement and Bullitt because he was dissatisfied with provisions affecting Russia.

It was said that an amendment covering Shantung would be urged both in the committee and in the Senate. What amendments or reservations were to be attached to the treaty was not said, but it was understood that the committee would depend largely on Chairman Lodge.

The Republicans have a majority of three, but one of them, Senator McCumber, is expected to vote with the Democrats against any radical amendment.

Some thought a report by the committee might be possible within two weeks.

450 DISCHARGED MARINES
TO ARRIVE HERE TOMORROW

St. Louisans Will Be Among Those In Contingent Coming From Hampton Roads.

A contingent of 450 discharged United States Marines from overseas, some of them residents of St.
Louis, is scheduled to arrive here at 8:25 a. m. tomorrow from Hampton Roads, Va. These men are of the Thirteenth Regiment, which did not see active service, with some men of the Fifth Brigade, Machine Gun Battalion, of the Second Division, who saw service.

Most of the 160 men who arrived in the first contingent yesterday afternoon were of the Eleventh Regiment of Marines, which did not see active service, and many of them were replacement men, who reached France after the armistice was signed.
A few who saw service were with the outfit as regulars.

A large body of marines of the Fifth and Sixth Regiments, Second Division, many of them veterans of St. Mihiel, is expected to arrive here some time Sunday.

A meeting of relatives of St. Louis marines will be held tonight in Knights of Columbus Hall, 3449 Olive street, to plan a reception for the returning men, and to arrange for celebration after all the St. Louis marines have returned.

EAST ST. LOUIS DOCTOR KILLED BY STREET CAR

Dr. Thomas B. Hagarty Struck as He Steps From Automobile to Tracks.

Dr. Thomas B. Hagarty, 52 years old, of 2112 State street, East St.
Louis, was struck and killed by a street car of the Lebanon-O'Fallon division of the East St. Louis & Suburban railway, at 8 o'clock this morning at Sixty-third and State streets, East St. Louis, when he stepped from an automobile onto the street car track in front of the home of a patient.

The car was stopped about 18 feet from the place where it struck Dr. Hagarty, and it was found that his body was so tightly wedged between the front trucks that it was necessary to jack up the car to release it.

Dr. Hagarty and Dr. E. H. Bottom of a coast St. Louis had gone together to visit a patient, whose home was about 20 feet west of Sixty-third street. The street car tracks at that place are at the sides of the tracks and the street car was driving between the tracks, being elevated above the street several inches.

Dr. Hagarty stopped his car close to the tracks and stepped out of it onto the track. Motorman Middleton, in charge of the street car, said the car was not 10 feet away when the doctor stepped onto the track and he was not able to stop it, though he said he had it under control and was slowing down for a stop at Sixty-third street. He said the doctor did not look to see if a car was approaching.

Dr. Hagarty has been practicing medicine in East St. Louis 15 years.
He is survived by his widow and four children.

WARFIELD PLAN OF RAILROAD CONTROL
GIVEN TO HOUSE

wage disputes, being a body close to the employees, the carriers and the shippers.

Issuance of Securities.
"The issuance of securities of all carriers engaged in interstate commerce would be vested exclusively in Federal authority."

"This plan would create a corporation, the directors of which would be appointed by the Federal government, and managed by the nine interstate commerce commissioners and eight railroad men selected by the railroads."

The plan would furnish the expert advice to the commission in the operation of carriers, would unify terminals, would operate equipment, such as has been built by the railroads, and would allocate and allocate to the individual railroads.

"It would furnish a great clearing house for railroad operation and in times of emergency would constitute the directed authority for the operation of the railroads as a single system."

In contending that 6 per cent as the proper return would not be questioned, Mr. Walter said: "Walter M.
Plumb, the great exponent of low returns, admits that 6 per cent is not an excessive return under private operation."

The great mass of the people, he said, were virtually concerned in the integrity of railroad securities, the fixed return should be divided between the employees, the public and the earnings, one-third to the public and the earnings, one-third to the road "to encourage investment and initiative in operation."

Under Federal Control.
The plan, Mr. Plumb said, in closing, would create a corporation operated without profit to the railroads, and under Federal control, directed by trustees, the nine interstate commerce commissioners and eight railroad men, to finance in the present emergency such equipment as may be purchased from the Railroad Administration and allocated to the railroads, and furnish immediate means for assisting in financing the reconstruction of the roads, the corporation to be continued as a permanent means for mobilizing and purchasing equipment needed by the roads.
This corporation would furnish at all times a trained and efficient means for immediate mobilization of the railroads for war purposes without additional legislation.

HAWES SAYS COUNTY SHOULD NOT NEED CITY AID FOR ROADS

Maj. Harry R. Hawes, Chairman of the Good Roads Committee of the Automobile Club of St. Louis, has replied to the suggestion of Probate Judge Hodgeson of St. Louis County, that the city of St. Louis should appropriate $500,000 a year for the building of county roads leading into the city. His reply is that the county, with its $2,000,000 bond in-sue, and with $250,000 State and Federal funds available, should not need such help; and that the city is having a hard time, with its present revenue, in caring for its own streets.

Hawes says the example of Kansas City and its contribution to Jackson County roads, which Hodgeson cited, does not apply, as Kansas City is a part of Jackson County, while St. Louis is an independent city. He says the question of hauling material is one which interests the contractors chiefly. Hodgeson said, in his letter, that the city could help the county by passing an ordinance which would permit the hauling of material on the city sections of the county lines of the Eastern Railway.

"FOLLIES" CLOSED BY ACTORS' STRIKE IN N. Y.

Trouble Between Stage People and Producing Managers Is Spreading.

By Louisa Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The "Ziegfeld Follies" at the New Amsterdam Theater, the most expensive production in the city, which, according to Ziegfeld, cost in excess of $175,000 to stage, and "39 East," at the Maxine Elliot Theater, were closed last night by the actors' strike, which has spread to Boston and Chicago.

Thirteen shows here have been forced to close or were unable to open on their appointed dates.

"Two managers' go-injunctions in Boston, also that there had been overtures for a settlement. It was only talk in both cases, however."

The walkout at the "Follies" followed the action of Supreme Court Justice Lydon in vacating a restraining order which had prevented Eddie Cantor, Johnny Dooly, Ray Dooly, Eddie Dowling, John Steele and Van Schenck from leaving the cast.

The theater was packed last night, as usual. At the curtain hour the principals named were not willing to go on. The management waited for the cast to appear, but they did not. A disappointed audience filed out into the rain after visiting the box office. Cantor was getting $500 a week, Gus Van and Joseph Schenck $200 each and John Steele $250. The salaries of the other actors are not revealed.

Supreme Court Justice Lydon signed a temporary restraining order preventing the Actors' Equity and the cast of "The Who's Who in Darkness" from participating in any way in an alleged combination and conspiracy to close the place at its premiere tonight at the Forty-eighth Street Theater.

A hearing of the wholesale injunction suits brought by the Winter Garden Company will be held today before Judge Hand in the Federal District Court.

Mr. Gilmore, executive secretary of the Actors' Equity Association, was asked to state the irreducible minimum of the association's demands and the conditions on which the actors would return to work.

"The only thing that keeps us apart is the refusal of the Producing Managers' Association to recognize the association as the representative of the actors, and we are more than willing to submit all our other differences to arbitration. In fact, we persistently and continually urged arbitration before the strike was called."

"At our request, both William H.
Taft and Charles F. Hughes offered to act as arbiters. This information was sent to the managers, with the request that they would submit the dispute to one of them, or both, but the managers sent back word there was nothing to arbitrate."

Gilmore's statement was submitted to the Producing Managers' Association. Arthur Hopkins, the spokesman, wrote:

"The Producing Managers' Association cannot deal with or recognize the Actors' Equity Association for the reason that it has ceased to be the representative of the actor and has become his dictator."

"A member of the Actors' Equity Association can no longer freely enter into any contract with a manager which he is certain of fulfilling. His first obligation is to the Actors' Equity Association. He signs an oath and gives a bond that at all times he will abide by the dictates of the association. If he is ordered to break a contract he will break it or be expelled from the association and called a scab."

"The contract between actor and manager ceases to be a contract between two parties. The Actors' Equity Association is the third party and the predominant one."

The actors' association has announced that delegates from the milkmen's union, barbers' union and United Mine Workers have pledged their support to the actors. The barbers' union said the announcement had notified members that any of them who attended a performance in a theater where the actors were on strike would be fined $5. The barbers' delegate told the meeting that union barbers along Broadway were refusing to shave actors who could not produce union cards.

"VISCOUNT GREY" TO AID IN RECASTING TREATIES

New British Ambassador to U. S.
Also Must Solve Financial Tangle Created by War.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Questions arising out of the peace settlement which Bonar Law announced in the House of Commons yesterday would require the attention of Viscount Grey, the new British Ambassador to the United States, are understood here to include a readjustment of the complicated financial relations between Great Britain and the U. S., growing out of loans and credits advanced by America.

There also must be an almost immediate recasting of many existing treaties between the two countries, necessitated by the radical changes following the war. Many of these conventions date back for more than a century and were said by officials to have been applied to modern conditions only by the exercise of the greatest liberality of construction.

The La Follette shipping law swept away completely one treaty relating to the rights and duties of sailors and port authorities and this never has been replaced.

In the early days of the war there were many issues between the State Department and the British Foreign Office growing out of interference with American commerce by British warships and British orders in council and the many claims for damages by American shipowners and merchants pending when the United States entered the war, still technically are open. Viscount Grey was the British Secretary for Foreign Af-airs when these issues arose and conducted the negotiations for his Government.

Announcement that Viscount Grey was to come to Washington to discuss with Secretary Lansing and other American officials.

London Papers Give Warm Approval to Appointment of Grey.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Viscount Grey's acceptance of the appointment of temporary British Ambassador to the United States is given warm approval by the press here, which eulogizes his public services, and for the most part regards his appointment as excellent. There is, however, dissatisfied criticism in some quarters, not on the ground of Viscount Grey's fitness or his acceptability to America, but because of the extraordinary responsibilities attaching to the post at this moment. Doubt is expressed whether the making of a temporary Ambassador is suitable for this reason.

The Daily News severely criticizes the Government for making an "emergency appointment," adding:
"To choose a statesman who has been more than two years, has been out of touch with active political life, is to say the least, a singular proceeding."

ARREST OF THREE YOUTHS REVEALS
$10,000 THIEVERY

Boys 14 and 15 Years Old Said by Police to Have Been Leaders of Juvenile Burglar Band.

FOUR GROCERS HELD
AFTER CONFESSION

Charged With Buying Plunder Taken From Freight Cars in Interstate Shipments.

In the arrest of three boys, 14 and 15 years old, the police of the Carr Street District say they have the leaders of a band of juvenile burglars and freight car looters that had done 27 jobs in the past two and one-half months and stolen merchandise valued at more than $10,000.

Four grocers to whom the boys say they disposed of most of their plunder, have been arrested and are charged by the police with having received goods stolen from interstate shipments, a Federal officer said. The case will be submitted to the United States District Attorney.

The boys under arrest, who are members of what the police call the "Carr Avenue Gang," are in the narrow room at the Carr Street Station. They are Manuel Siegal, 15 years old, of 1206 North Thirteenth street; Thomas McCauley, 14, of 3818 Arsenal street, and Leo Kasinsky, 15, of 1422 Cass avenue. The latter proudly admits that he is the leader of the gang. Four other boys are being sought. Since they began stealing the boys have been making their "home" in a wagon at Sixth street and Cass avenue.

The grocers, whose arrest followed confessions by the boys, are Joseph Pallarito, 1327 North Ninth street; Stephen Vitell, 1218 North Eighth street; and Joseph and Salvatore Cisumano, father and son, of 1321 North Seventh street.

"Customers of the Gang."
The boys informed the police that after they had begun selling stolen goods to the grocers the latter would tell them what to steal and would put a price on what was wanted before it was stolen. Kasinsky referred to the grocers as "customers of the gang."

Hams and eggs were the principal commodities in which the gang and its "customers" dealt, according to the boys. They said that they sold the Casumano 15 cases of eggs (30 dozen to the case) at $7.50 a case, and that they were told that the grocers would buy any price at all they could get. The boys said that they sold hams, which ordinarily retail at $5 or $6, for $1.50 each, to their "customers."

Pallarito admitted, the police say, that he purchased cigarettes in wholesale lots from the boys. The other grocers refused to make a statement. Four cartons of cigarettes, identified as having been stolen from a freight car, were recovered at Pallarito's store.

Tells of Robbery Plot.
McCauley, the youngest of the prisoners, told the police that he was engaged by two men to help out in a payroll robbery three weeks ago.
One of the men, he said, furnished him with a loaded revolver, and instructed him as to the part he was to take. The men were arrested the night before the robbery was to have taken place, McCauley said, and the plans fell through.

Last Sunday the boys performed their most daring crime. In daylight they entered the Interurban Express and Transfer Co.'s depot, 925 North Seventh street, through the skylight on the roof and lowered themselves on ropes. They tried to break into the safe, but failed to open the door, although they hammered off the combination knob.
They took cigarettes and chewing tobacco valued at $125.

Within one week they looted freight cars in the Cotton Belt yards, Main street and Cass avenue, five times and stole shoes, cigarettes, chewing tobacco and smoking pipes valued at about $700, they said.
They broke the seals from cars in the switching yards along the levee, from Cass avenue to Carr street, they said, and stole hams and eggs on numerous occasions. Six weeks ago, according to their own admissions, they stole 10 cases of shoes valued at $800 from the platform of the Columbia Transfer Co. at Second and Carr streets. They broke into freight houses of the Wabash and Louisville & Nashville roads, and stole merchandise valued at about $1000.

Confess to Burglaries.
Among the burglaries which the boys confessed were those at the commission houses of the Cranner company, 709 North Third street;
E. L. Lynch, 807 North Third street; Liberty Poultry Co., 409 Franklin street; and P. J. Heumann, 917 North Fourth street. They stole live chickens and several cases of eggs at those places, they said, and tried to force open the safe in the office of H. C. Heumann. They stole three cartons of men's shirts from the warehouse of the David Miller Candy Co., Main street and Lucas avenue, they said.

Regarding the plot to hold up a paymaster, McCauley told newspaper reporters that he and two men were going to waylay the paymaster of the Jacks & Evans Manufacturing Co., Main and Clinton streets, and take his cash containing payroll money.
McCauley said that the men had in-

ARMY FOOD SALE STORES IN ALL PARTS OF CITY PLANNED

Distribution Through Neighborhood Organizations to Be Discussed at Meeting Tomorrow Evening.

Plans for sale of surplus army food supplies, through ward and neighborhood organizations, will be discussed at a meeting to be held at the Meramec School, 2745 Meramec street, tomorrow night. The meeting has been called by the Public Welfare Committee of the Tenth Ward Improvement Association. Arthur Stoehr, president of the association, is in charge of the movement and has invited neighborhood organizations in all parts of the city to send representatives.

If Stoehr's plan can be carried out the supplies will be purchased by the organizations on credit authorized by Mayor Kiel, for a period of 10 days, and will be distributed at temporary storehouses, to be opened in different sections.

The managers and directors of the Missouri Athletic Association are figuring on the purchase of surplus of the army supplies, on the same basis as the neighborhood associations, the supplies to be used for the club's restaurant.

An additional price list of supplies authorized for sale to municipalities, states, counties, charitable institutions and Government employees, was made public by the Zone Supply Office at the St. Louis Arsenal today.

The prices in this list are:

Bacon, breakfast, No. 1 can, $4.00
Bacon, in crates, No. 1 can, $2.00
Fish, roe, No. 1 can, $1.00
Fish, tuna, No. 2 can, $2.25
Apples, evaporated, 50 lbs., $6.00
Peaches, evaporated, 50 lbs., $6.00
Prunes, 50 lbs., $6.00
Salt, issue, 100 lbs., $6.00
Sugar, cut loaf, 100 lbs., $6.00
Sugar, cut loaf, 40 lbs., $3.00
Tea, black, E. B., 10 lbs., $4.00
Tea, black, Oolong, 10 lbs., $4.00
Tea, green, gunpowder, 10 lbs., $4.00
Tea, green, Japan, 10 lbs., $4.00
Tea, green, Y. H., 10 lbs., $4.00
Pickles, gal., $2.00

The supplies in the foregoing list, it was announced, will not be sold throughout the city, but will be sold longer list, printed in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, will be sold by parcel post, beginning next week, and postoffices will furnish order blanks, which must be accompanied by money orders for the supplies desired.

Asked what he was to do with the revolver that had been given to him by the men, he said that he was to shoot anyone who followed and, he added, he would have done it.

Men Now in Workhouse.
The police say that two men arrested three weeks ago in a room at Thirteenth street and Franklin avenue, on suspicion of being implicated in a series of highway robberies, had their room in a plan of the factory and site of the Jacks & Evans plant.
McCauley told policemen those were the men who had talked to him about the contemplated robbery. Both men are in the Workhouse now.

The police do not believe the statement of the boys that they have spent all the money realized by them as a result of their burglarious enterprises. The boys said they spent it all for clothing and food. When arrested they were attired in well worn garments. They said that they had purchased several suits of clothes and had thrown them away after wearing them only once.

RIGHT TO STEER CAR WITH ONE HAND AND HUG GIRL ATTACKED

When it was pointed out that he considered his opinion about "condemned" driving sound enough to back it up with prosecutions, he replied:

"Our experience in the county in traffic cases has convinced me that unless it is obvious that the accused could not possibly have been guilty, he should be allowed to go on payment of costs. Some people may not agree with that sort of a rule, but it is one I follow, and the one I intend to follow as long as I am in office."

The question of costs appearing to play such a factor, the reporter inquired as to the disposition of the money. He discovered that in the "Prize" case the $750 was split as follows: $350 to Constable Schoebel, $270 to Judge Werremeyer and $130 to Deputy Constable Roth.
This is a customary procedure for all automobile accidents in the county. Several attempts have been made by reporters and others to get an itemized bill of costs to determine just what the various items of cost include, but nobody has been successful.

WIFE SEEKING DIVORCE SAYS
POLICEMAN WAS PARSIMONIOUS

Mrs. Bessie E. Borin, in a petition filed today in the Circuit Court, alleges their separation was due to his failure to provide necessary clothing, and his objection to the purchase of food of the quality she desired because of its high cost.

They were married Jan. 10, 1917, and separated Feb. 2, 1919. He objects, she alleges, to her spending all on bread for their twins, and complained because the grocery bill for two weeks was $14. He insisted, she alleges, that she purchase sausage and other cheaper food which include, but he had little proper food value.

They resided at 5220 Shaw avenue.

CHICAGO SHOPMEN VOTING ON RETURNING TO WORK

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Improvement in conditions brought about by the strike of the federated railway shopmen was reported today from all sections of the city. The men started on Aug. 1. In the Chicago district, the stronghold of the strikers, a vote is under way today to decide whether the men should return to work.

M. J. Regan, assistant Northwestern director of the Chicago situation, stated that the Chicago situation was improved. Advice to Washington officials was to the effect that all shopmen in Chicago, Decatur and St. Louis would be at work today.

Expulsion from the international shopmen's organization may be visited on the Chicago strikers, according to a telegraphic warning sent by M. J. Jewell, acting international president, to district chairmen here who called the strike.

LAWS "TOOTHLESS" AS TO PROFITEERS: HENSLEY SAYS

"No Way to Punish Dealers Who Increase Prices Just Because People Want Pay."

United States District Attorney Hensley, in a statement to newspaper reporters today, said that after an exhaustive examination of the Lever act and all other laws which might apply to profiteering he had reached the conclusion that in the matter of checking profiteering by individual dealers the law is "tooth-less."

The District Attorney explained that this statement referred to the class of profiteering in which the dealer simply increases his prices to a high level because he believes his customers will pay the price. Congress, he said, has been asked to amend the law so that this class of profiteers may be reached and punished.

While arbitrary price fixing of this character cannot be made the basis of prosecution, he said, the law applies with full force to all cases where food is stored or hoarded with a view to boosting prices or where food is deliberately destroyed to advance the market.

In all such cases of hoarding or manipulation, he said, his office would conduct a rigid investigation and institute criminal proceedings on sufficient evidence.

As to profiteering, the District Attorney said, the best remedy would be "pitiless publicity" through the press, with publication of all complaints made by individual consumers as to the prices charged by individual dealers.

The District Attorney said his examination of the laws convinced him that he should be allowed to go on payment of costs. Some people may not agree with that sort of a rule, but it is one I follow, and the one I in-
office."

ting the money to the Post-Dispatch

PRESIDENT OF CAP COMPANY
ARRESTED IN STRIKE FIGHT

Girl Charges He Choked Her When He Interfered in Street Conversation.

Jacob Liederman, 43 years old, 6615 Waterman avenue, president of the Cap Company, 709 North Sixth street, was arrested at 6 p. m. yesterday when he is alleged to have interfered in a fight between a striking girl cap maker and a worker replacing her, in front of the company's plant.

Alla Kozlik, 1613 Blair avenue, told policemen she was leaving the plant after work when she was stopped by Rose Wolinsky, 20, 2719 Sheridan avenue, who attempted to slap her. The Wolinsky girl said she was merely talking to Alla when Liederman emerged from his office and attacked her. She claimed Lieder-man grabbed her by the throat and choked her for 10 others interfered and she was "hoveled into the gutter."

She was treated at the dispensary for bruises on the neck before being taken to Central Station. Charges of disturbing the peace were placed against Liederman and the Wolinsky girl. They gave bond.

Eleven striking girl cap makers were arrested yesterday at Fourteenth street and Washington avenue when they refused to obey the police rules for picketing plants in the vicinity. They sang and cheered all the way to Central Station in the patrol wagon and sang as they deported on bond after being charged with peace disturbance.

FOR RACE EQUALITY
IN FRAMING LAWS

Head of National Business League Tells Delegates
They Are Governed Entirely by White Man's Code.

CRITICISES WILSON
FOR LYNCHINGS

Speaker Deplores Failure of President to Aid in Suppressing Activity of Mobs —Praises Negro Troops.

The National Negro Business League, founded by Booker T.
Washington, convened in the second of a three-day session at the Coliseum this morning with a program of talks by negro business men, mostly from Southern states.

At last night's session, J. C. Napier, formerly register of the treasury of the United States, now a negro banker of Nashville, Tenn., and president of the organization, delivered an appeal for negro equality with white men in the making and execution of laws.

"We constitute one-tenth of the population of the country," he said,
"and yet we have no voice in the making of the laws by which we are governed. We are taxed, we are considered, we are strictly amenable to every requirement made by a law enacted by the white men and for the white men."

"All usages and customs, according to his idea, must be observed by the negro, whether they be just or not. His law provides that in the courts every man shall have a trial by a jury of his peers. He always sits as a juror, in the trial of our cases, and yet he would under no circumstances admit that we are his peers."

Mr. Napier deplored the Chicago riots, used the negro to be law-abiding, and criticized President Wilson, who he said, had not protested against lynching of negroes in the South and was only moved to protest when the rights of the white man were an-dressed.

He praised the patriotism and valor of the negro soldiers, and continued:
"You have won for yourselves and for all Americans, black or white, a title to a brand of true democracy and liberty which you yourselves have not yet received, which has not been given to negroes, but which negroes are hoping and praying soon will be conveyed, transferred and deeded to them and their heirs forever. For this we will ever seek and make demands. Without this, we would have all our fellow citizens in every part of the country understand that we shall be a disaffected and discontented people with a wretchedness that can never for a moment be forgotten."

Dr. Robert R. Moton, principal of Tuskegee Institute, whose parents were slaves and who worked his way through school, is attending the convention as chairman of the Executive Committee. He predicted that the negro eventually will take his place beside the white man in the business world in harmonious relationship. By education, he said, the negro will adjust himself to harmonious relations with the white man.
He pointed out that the elements in both races that are capable of uneducated classes, and that in spite of friction here and there, conditions are improving.

Growth of Savings Bank.
J. L. Lemon, who with I. E. Williams, headed the Savannah delegation of 31 men, told of the remarkable progress of the Wage Earners' Savings Bank of that city as an example of what it is possible for negroes to accomplish. Lemon said the bank commenced business in 1906 with assets of $102. The bank's official statement as of August 6, 1909, showed $755,311.57 assets, representing a premium of 160 per cent above the par value of the stock.

One of the features of the bank's activities is the acquisition of the entire block opposite the Union Station at Savannah on which will be erected a group of structures embracing a six-story hotel, a theater, auditorium and a department store.
It is said that negroes in no other city have taken over the entire property opposite the union railroad station.

Williams and Lemon brought the Savannah delegation to the convention in a private car.

SCHOOLS PREPARING TO OBEY COMPULSORY EDUCATION LAW

Superintendent Expects 7000 Employed Children Will Be Affected by Requirement.

Superintendent of Schools Withers, in anticipation of carrying out the law enacted by the last Legislature for compulsory school attendance four hours each week in the day time of all children between 14 and 18 years old who have not completed the elementary course of instruction in the public schools, or its equivalent, is considering plans for the formation of classes in the St. Louis public schools to care for them.

The law was a part of the Children's Code and was intended to provide instruction for children who are employed. It is estimated that it will be necessary to provide instruction for between 7000 and 8000 children between 14 and 18 years of age who have not completed the elementary course of instruction in the public schools, or its equivalent, is considering plans for the formation of classes in the St. Louis
public schools to care for them.

The general plan is to provide as much room as possible in schools near large factories by transferring regular pupils to other schools.
Schoolrooms established by downtown department stores for their employees will be used to as great an extent as is possible.

Three Signatures to Free Prisoners.
PARIS, Aug. 14.—Gen. Pershing said that in his opinion the 48,000 German prisoners held by the American army may be released as soon as the German peace treaty is ratified by three of the great Powers.
He said he believed it would not be necessary to await American ratification of the treaty.

JAPANESE WILL FORM COMPANY TO LAY CABLE TO UNITED STATES

New Line Is Expected to Promote Better Understanding Between the Two Nations.

Representative of the Associated Press.
TOKYO, July 25.—Prominent Japanese business men formally decided yesterday to float a $9,000,000 yen (about $25,000,000) company for the purpose of laying a cable line between the United States and Japan.
It is expected that the venture will be supported by business men of the United States as well as by those in Japan and that the establishment of a new cable line will do much toward promoting not only trade between the United States and Japan, but also better understanding between the two nations.

K. Uchida, former Vice Minister of Communication, moving spirit in the proposition, said: "It has not yet been decided which route will be chosen for the cable, but it will be one of the two southern routes. One of these will run from San Francisco to Hawaii, to Midway and to Ogas-awara. The other will be the route through the Philippines, to the South Sea Islands now under the control of Japan. In the place of Midway, The Hawaii route is the shorter but the other gives a shorter distance between stations, which will enable it to do speedier work. The final decision will be made until after a survey has been made of the ocean covering both routes."

SOLDIER Gassed IN FRANCE
COLLAPSES AFTER HARD WORK

Only Employment He Could Find at Demobilization Bureau Was Heavy Labor.

The collapse of a soldier who fainted at the Demobilization Bureau for Soldiers, Sailors and Marines, 110 North Ninth street, Tuesday, resulted in a hurry call for a city ambulance, and the man was rushed to the city hospital, where he was said to be much improved this morning.

He was in the American Expeditionary Forces and was gassed in France. He had applied at the bureau for a job at some light outdoor work, but he had recovered from the effects of the gas. There was no work of this kind available and the man was so desperate for a job and in need of money that he took a heavy laboring job, and when he went back to the bureau to say that it was too severe for him to continue he collapsed.

Martin J. Walsh, examiner in charge of the bureau, said the waiting list to introduce it in the trial, because Davis' attorney refused to put the defendant on the witness stand.

Shows Legitimate Use.
James Davis, the defendant, in the failure of the State to introduce direct evidence that Davis "intended" to use the tools unlawfully, it attempted to show that the nitroglycerine was used in legitimate uses, such as for blasting in quarries.

In his arguments to the jurors, James pleaded with them not to "put the stigma of an ex-convict on the defendant." Nothing but he introduced in the trial to inform the jury as to Davis' record.

Davis accepted the verdict calmly, even smiling at Verne Lacy, Assistant Circuit Attorney, who prosecuted him. He returned to his cell, reserved.

POLICEMAN WAITS FOR HER

Attempts to End Her Life After Arrest for Buying Clothing on Employer's Property.

Louise Hendricks, 20 years old, 3435 Morgan street, attempted to end her life by drinking a quantity of disinfectant in the kitchen of her home a short time after she had been arrested at Grand and Washington avenues for buying silk lingerie and slippers on the account of Mrs. Emil Sieloff, 4032 Natural Bridge avenue, by whom she was employed up to two weeks ago.

Patrolman Wegener, who arrested the girl, was standing a few feet away from her when she grasped the bottle, but she drank half the contents before he could take it away. She was taken to the city hospital where doctors said her condition was serious.

Mrs. Sieloff caused the arrest of the girl when she encountered her on the street. The girl tried to buy lingerie worth about $35 at Mrs.
Sieloff's account and offered to get the articles for the policeman at her home. He accompanied her there, she had gathered up the articles and was preparing to leave when she asked to be allowed to get a drink in the kitchen. The bottle of poison was on a kitchen shelf.

She told the policeman on the way to the hospital.

WOMAN'S PHONE TIP LEADS TO ARREST OF TWO

Police Catch Pair in Auto, One of Whom Confesses to Having Robbed House at 4401 Shaw.

PURSUING POLICEMEN

Three Armed Robbers Take Automobile Away From Chauffeur "To Pull Off a Big Job in Wellston."

On information by telephone from a woman in the 4800 block of De Tonty street, at 1:45 a. m. today, the police arrested two men, one of whom confessed that he had a few minutes earlier robbed the home of Mrs. Stella Johnson, 4401 Shaw avenue.

The police at the Magnolia Avenue station had been informed that an automobile containing several men, who acted suspiciously had stopped across the street from 4225 De Tonty. Lieut. McDonnell and other policemen went to the scene. They found the car with lights out, but no men. They had been told on the telephone that the men had passed through a vacant lot to Shaw avenue, so the policemen awaited their return.

A man presently returned through the lot and got in the car. The police seized, searched and questioned him. He said his name was Odele Harvey, 20 years old, 4156 Blaine avenue, tobacco worker, and that he had gone to get a man to help him fix the car. In his pockets was a pair of men's shoes. Reluctant to tell more, he was held in the shadow of a house for the return of the other men.

Barefooted Man Captured.
Only a few minutes elapsed until two other men came through the lot. Harvey stepped out of the shadows, apparently as a signal to the men, and, taking in the situation at a glance, they fled. Several shoes were tried after them and one was captured. He is Charles Hines, 26, 4156 Blaine avenue, a bartender out of work. He was barefooted. Jewelry valued at $500 and $49 in cash was found in his possession.

The two men were taken back to Shaw avenue, to a house in which the lights were burning. It was Mrs. Johnson's home, and she and Andrew T. Harmon, commission man, a roomer, said they were awakened shortly before by two men ransacking drawers.

Mrs. Johnson said Hines was one of the men. She said he took her jewelry and then took her to Harmon's room and took his money, while the second man stood with revolver in hand. After the men left, she said, she looked out of the window and saw Harvey, apparently serving as lookout in the yard. She identified the jewelry taken from Hines. Policemen say Hines confessed then that he and the man who escaped robbed the house, but that Harvey only drove them to that neighborhood.

Take Chauffeur's Car.
George Bacott, 22 years old, a service car chauffeur for Arthur Lauman of 4243 Washington boulevard, met policemen at Delmar boulevard and Skinner road at 11 o'clock last night and told of two men having forcibly taken his automobile.

Bacott said he had his machine near Forest Park Highlands about 10 p. m. when two men entered him to drive them to McCausland and Clayton avenues. While he was taking them there, he said, he was struck on the head from behind and knocked unconscious. When he regained consciousness he was in the tonneau with one of the men who held an automatic pistol. The other stranger was at the wheel.

Bacott said the men told him they did not want money, as they had plenty. They drove to Delmar boulevard and Westgate avenue, he said, where one of the men gave him $2 to reimburse him for damage to his hat when he was struck on the head. The men, he said, then displayed three automatic pistols and one of the men said "We've got to have this machine. We're going to pull off a big job in Wellston. You'll be all right if you keep your mouth shut and don't identify us if we're arrested."

The strangers then forced Bacott to get out of the machine and he walked three blocks east on Delmar boulevard before meeting policemen. The police telephoned to county authorities about the threat to "pull off a job in Wellston." Deputy Sheriffs and Constables were on the watch there all night.

The police say the description of the men given by Bacott tallies with that of the men who attempted Tuesday night to blow a saloon safe at Eighteenth and Market streets, 18 which there was $5000.

Church Safe Robbed.
A safe in the St. Francis de Sales Church, Ohio and Gravois avenues, containing most of the gold and silver service and chalice of the church, withstood the efforts of safe blowers some time Tuesday night or early yesterday. The burglars broke into the church by forcing a window open. They had blown the outer doors of the safe with nitroglycerin, apparently, and had bored holes in the inner doors which they had filled to force open.

A safe in the offices of the M. Schwartz & Sons Feed Co., 2340-44 Missouri avenue, was found broken open yesterday. The robbers took 155 in cash and scattered checks for $316.80 over the office book. The couple, taking with them Mrs. Sperry's engagement and wedding rings. He had previously paid $1 for the room. Police say he answered the description of the man who has robbed on an average of two rooming houses daily for the past two weeks in this fashion. Automobiles stolen during the night belonged to Paul C. Simmons, 5867 Nina place; Fred Murth, 5032 Vernon avenue, and Joseph Molin, 3301 Franklin avenue. The Simmons automobile was taken from in front of St. Luke's Hospital and the other two from points on Grand avenue.

HUSBAND TRAILS WIFE AND
"OTHER MAN" INTO HOUSE
Couple Arrested After Woman's Companion Leaps Out of Second Story Window.
Joseph Chmellar, 40 years old, 1430 South Eighteenth street, last night followed his wife, Mrs. Frances Chmellar, and a man of about the same age, to a house at 4617 Delmar boulevard. A police sergeant and a patrolman accompanied him. At 10:30 p. m. the husband and the police sergeant knocked on the door of one of the rooms, on the second floor of the house. As they knocked Clifford Chisholm, a garage proprietor of 4157 Madison avenue, leaped from the window. The patrolman was waiting in the yard and arrested Chisholm. When the husband and the sergeant got into the room the sergeant arrested Mrs. Chmellar. Virginia Owens, 42, who conducts the house, also was arrested. Police Court charges were made in the three cases. Chmellar has a divorce suit pending in the Circuit Court.

FORD CASE WITH JURY; ON TRIAL THREE MONTHS

Judge Says Right of Fair Comment Is Expected—Pro-Germanism Charge Unproven.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Aug. 14.—The jury which for three months has been hearing testimony and arguments in Henry Ford's $1,000,000 libel suit against the Chicago Daily Tribune, retired today to consider its verdict.

Judge Tucker instructed the jury that "the right of fair comment" is expected in the case of Ford, because his position as a great employer of labor and an entry as a propagandist into the discussion of preparedness question made him a public character.

The judge held that a newspaper has no greater privileges in making comment than has an individual. The jury was instructed further to dismiss the case against the Tribune, which, on a purely technical charge, distributed in Michigan 208 copies of the Tribune issue of June 23, 1915, containing the alleged libelous editorial headed "Ford is an Anarchist," was made a codefendant.

The judge instructed that the plaintiff's charges of pro-Germanism against the Tribune and of a selfish interest in advocating intervention in Mexico had not been proven and the jury need not consider it.

Judge Tucker gave the several definitions of the words "anarchist" and "anarchy," but instructed that it was the duty of the jury itself to determine in what sense the newspaper used the words and what it would mean to its readers.

There were two defenses, he continued. If the jury found that charges in the editorial were true, that Ford was in fact an "anarchist" and "ignorant idealist," it was a complete defense, he said. The "right of fair comment," he instructed, was a second defense to be considered only in the event that the first defense was inadequate. In the course of his charge the court said:

"The editorial, as it appeared in the paper and standing by itself without explanation, is libelous, or, in legal terms, libelous per se (of itself)."

"The defendant, Chicago Tribune, admits the publication and insists that it was true, and therefore justified; and that even if not true, it was fair comment upon a matter of public interest, either of which defenses are sufficient if proven."

The courtroom was crowded while the judge charged the jury. Capt. Joseph M. Patterson, one of the publishers of the Tribune, was present. Ford is in the Adirondacks on a vacation.

The jury was locked up at 9:55 a. m.

FOOD STORED IN SOUTH SEIZED

ON CHARGE OF ILLEGAL HOLDING

By the Associated Press.

TAMPA, Fla., Aug. 14.—Food-stuffs held in storage by six Tampa wholesale companies, aggregating 325,000 tins of canned goods, 4,000 cases of eggs, with large quantities of sugar, flour and other commodities, were seized here yesterday by agents of the Department of Justice. Notices of libel were served on the owners, charging that the goods were being illegally held from market for the purpose of unreasonably increasing prices.

Swift & Co., Crenshaw Brothers Produce Co., Charles H. Moorhouse, Jose Garcia, Jose Suarez and Reina Bro. were owners of the seized stocks. The haul also included 26,200 pounds of rice, 71,450 pounds of salt, 20,000 pounds of sugar, 20,580 pounds of flour and lesser quantities of other commodities.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—When informed of the seizure of $4,000 dozen eggs, which Morris & Co. had stored in Chattanooga, Edward Morris, president of the company, stated that that quantity of eggs was but one-tenth of the annual consumption in that city, and that four times that quantity were in storage in Nashville and an equal amount in Atlanta. He said that amount of storage eggs would be exhausted in a week by the branch houses in that district.

BROTHER HENRY AUGUSTIN DIES

Brother Henry Augustin, 78 years old, of the Christian Brothers Order, died at Alcanian Brothers Hospital last evening.

He was born in Albany, N. Y., and was ordained at Montreal, Canada, in 1858. He taught for a time in New York and then came to St. Mary and St. Joseph's School, Carondelet. Later he taught at St. John's, Sixteenth and Chestnut streets. From St. John's he went to New Mexico, where he spent 25 years as director of La Salle Academy, Las Vegas, and as custodian of the St. Miguel Church, the oldest church in the state. He came back to St. Louis a year ago.

The body will be sent to Glencoe, Mo., tomorrow for burial.

Baltimore Car Men Get Increase. By the Associated Press. BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 14.—The United Railways, which owns all city and suburban traction lines, has increased the wages of the 4,500 employees 10 per cent. The company a year ago obtained an increase of fares to six cents and now is asking for seven cents. The new scale provides a maximum wage for motormen and conductors of 50 cents an hour as compared with the present rate of 40 cents.

Announcing a Splendid Showing of the Newest Modes of Fall and Winter Apparel for Girls and Misses

Now that the many, many Fall Suits, Coats and Dresses have arrived we want every girl in St. Louis to visit the delightful Juniors' and Misses' Shop and make their selections from the smartest and newest of Fall models.

The Coats are very attractive; some are belted and some flare—and when one thinks of the cold Winter days ahead, that look very comfortable.

The Suits are good-looking with the long coats and straight skirts. They are button-trimmed and, sometimes, fur-trimmed, with novel pockets and narrow belts.

The Dresses are charming, whether they are for street, school or afternoon wear—or for evening wear.

The Misses' Street, School and Afternoon Dresses are developed on straight, long lines. Youthful in appearance, they are simply trimmed with, perhaps, a bit of yarn embroidery, a new design in beading or with rows of buttons.

Tricotee, Tricotine and Satin are the favored materials and you will be in vogue in brown, navy blue, taupe, Copen., gray or black.

Tricotine and Serge Dresses; from 15 to 18 years, $22.50 to $65.00

Frocks of Satin, Georgette and Net; from 15 to 18 years, $35 to $75

Smart Suits of Silvertone, Tinseltone, Heatherblow, Peach Bloom and English Tweeds, in the new shades; from 15 to 18 years, $35.00 to $125.00

Coats of Velour, Frost Glow, Silvertone, etc.; from 14 to 18 years, $22.50 to $110.00

Third Floor.

Smart Fall Blouses $7.50 $8.75 $10.00

Charmingly fashioned of Georgette crepe, these new Blouses show many of the latest style notes. The clusters of wee tufts, the Valenciennes edgings and the attractive yarn embroidery contribute not a little to the general effect of distinctiveness and individuality.

Models with high necks are shown, also the collarless blouses. Others with the necks cut round and square have dainty and becoming frills to form the collar.

Third Floor.

Sale of Millinery $4.95 In Two Attractive Groups $9.75

These smart Hats are all of excellent materials and good styles. They are appropriate for immediate and early Fall wear and are of such styles that they may be worn early next Spring.

All of these Hats originally sold for much more than the present price and in many instances the regular price was two or three times as large. The materials are braid, satin, Milan and Lisse straw, net and jet with a variety of chic trimmings. All wanted colors.

The number is limited so do not delay a visit to our French Millinery Shop.

DEMOCRATIC LEAGUE TO FACE RESOLUTION ON COVENANT

Withdrawals Are Threatened by Some Members If Indorsement Is Refused.

The Executive Committee of the Democratic League of St. Louis will meet tomorrow afternoon in its offices in the International Life Building, and will consider a resolution to be introduced by Mrs. Fred A. Reid of 5603 Washington court, indorsing the league of nations.

As several members of the Executive Committee, including Sam Lazarus, the president, and Leo Meriwether, E. H. Fricke and Arthur J. Donnelly are opposed to the league of nations, the introduction of the resolution is expected to arouse a contest for control of the organization. Women members are said to be particularly insistent that the league of nations be indorsed, and threats to withdraw from the organization in case of a failure to adopt the resolution have been made by some of them.

DESCRIBES BEAUTIFUL

Army Officer Who Penetrated Wilderness Tells of Giant Trees and Mass of Foliage.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Lieutenant-Colonel Townsend Whelen believes he has found a rich, virgin field for naturalists in the jungle of the Panama zone. He has the authority of the Smithsonian Institution that 80 per cent of the jungle growth in Panama is unknown to science. Natives of the region fear it and are ignorant of it. Lieutenant-Colonel Whelen penetrated it with two companies of infantry for the purpose of enabling army engineers to map it. He now writes of it for the Museum of Natural History.

"The casual visitor to the canal never sees any of the real jungle," he says, "nor dreams of its existence. If one cuts his way through the tangled second growth for about five miles in from the canal he comes to the real jungle, standing up like a gigantic wall of green verdure."

"Once in it, all is different, even the climate itself. Here one can wander at will, unimpeded by thorns and creepers. It is even easier traveling here than in the woods of our own northeast, because as a rule there is less 'down' timber. It is like a new world, a world that one has not even read about."

"From the blazing sun and sweltering heat of the second growth one enters what is almost an underground world, cool and balmy. Everywhere the giant trees go up limbless for from 100 to 200 feet and then spread out their verdant, literally hiding the sky. Beautiful slender palms grow in great profusion in the semi-darkness, impeding one's view but not one's progress."

"Scarcely ever can one see beyond 50 yards, and never does the explorer get an extended view even from the tops of the highest mountains. When I first entered the jungle it was with an indescribable feeling of awe and wonder, and this feeling has never left me; nay, it persists, drawing me, calling me to come back, more insistent even than the 'call of the north.'"

River Not on Map.

The part of the jungle invaded by Lieutenant-Colonel Whelen was east of Colon, extending from the Caribbean Coast to the headwaters of the Chagres River system. One of the first streams he encountered was the River Piedras, which rises out of one of the mountains of the Cerro Bruja range, and becomes one of the largest rivers in Panama before it reaches the sea between Colon and Porto Bello. Yet it is not to be found on any map. Its mouth having been mistaken for a lagoon of the sea when the coast line was charted.

Beyond the valley of the Upper Piedras rises an imposing range of mountains called Cerro Saximoo, culminating in a peak, rising 6000 to 8000 feet. Lieutenant-Colonel Whelen believes he is the only observer who ever viewed this range, as it seems to be invisible from any place where there is a trace of human beings, and its presence is barely noted on only one old map, with no indication of its altitude.

"Today," the narrator continues, "one can enter the jungle 19 miles east of the City of Colon and travel eastward for more than 300 miles, and except for a few marks of my machete, he will not see the trace of a civilized being."

"I must confess to absolute incompetence when it comes to a description of the flora of the jungle. I doubt if the jungle as a whole can be described—it can only be marveled at. It is beautiful, appalling, terrifying. I never cease to wonder at the trees. The enormous trunks with buttressed roots rise 100 feet without a limb and then spread out literally to hide the sky. Limbs so high that one can scarcely see them among the leaves drop lianas to the ground, long, tangled lines like the wrecked rigging of a dismantled ship."

Shows His Woodcraft.

In his description of the fauna and flora of the jungle Lieutenant-Colonel Whelen pleads that he is not a scientist, and the nature of his duties prevented extended observation, but he shows that he is a good woodman by the list of things he recognized. It was the strange things he met that convinced him that uncommon opportunities to enrich natural science with discoveries are presented in the Panama jungle.

His men for the work were selected for their aptitude as pioneers, their ability to travel without getting lost, their knowledge of camping and woodcraft and their capacity for hard work.

"They enjoyed the work just as any red-blooded young men would enjoy a camping trip in the woods," he says. "Three or four days in from civilization, just at dusk, camp made, the little mosquito-proof tents up, supper cooking, and at the hush of evening, the woodmen began, afar off, 'Wough, wough, wough! Oh, wough, h-h, wough, wough!' booming from hill to hill, resounding through the whole jungle, terrifying, paralyzing until one knows what it is—the call of the howler monkey. It is typical of the jungle, speaking at once to jungle peace and jungle war. From the time men would first hear the call they would regard the jungle differently. They were now of the jungle; they had felt its spell; the call of the jungle was in their blood, never to leave; and so, some day, going, I too shall go back, just as I do now in memory."

SENATE COMMITTEE RESUMES UNIVERSAL SERVICE HEARING

Nearly 100 Army Officers to Testify in Plan for Training Boys of 19 Years.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Hearings on the War Department proposals for a permanent military policy providing for universal training for boys of 19 years of age and a standing army with a peace strength of 274,000, are to be resumed today by the Senate Military Subcommittee appointed by Chairman Wadsworth to consider this legislation. Lieutenant-General Robert L. Bullard and Major-General James W. McAndrews, who was Chief of Staff of the American Expeditionary Forces in France, are to be heard.

That the committee plans to conduct extensive hearings upon the military plan with a view of considering every side of the question was indicated when Senator Wadsworth announced that a tentative list of witnesses, consisting of nearly 100 army officers and other military experts has been prepared.

HARBORD'S MISSION EXPLAINED

Visit to Armenia Is Not Connected With Mandatory Question.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Investigation of conditions in Armenia with a view to undertaking some plan of relief and not a survey in connection with any possible American mandatory over that territory is the mission of Major-General Harbord, Chief of Staff of the American Expeditionary Forces, in his forthcoming visit to Armenia and Transcaucasia. This statement was made by officials here.

Any question of an American mandatory for Armenia is held by officials here to be of a purely political nature instead of military, and President Wilson is understood to have explained to European Governments that it was a question which can only be determined by Congress.

BAKER PRAISES MARINES AS TROOPS OF DAUNTLESS COURAGE

Secretary Pays Tribute to Units Restored to Service With Navy Department.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Tribute to the performance of the marines in France as a "new and heroic demonstration of the unconquering tenacity and dauntless courage of the American soldier," was paid by Secretary Baker yesterday in a letter to Acting Secretary Roosevelt of the Navy Department. The letter was occasioned by the restoration of the Marine Brigade to the Navy Department after its service overseas under Gen. Pershing.

The brigade, composed of the Fifth and Sixth Regiments, which played a large part in turning back the German forces at Chateau-Thierry and Belleau Wood, was demobilized yesterday at Quantico, Va. Most of the members of the brigade, which was made up of men from every State, left for their homes at once.

"I cannot permit this heroic force," wrote Secretary Baker, "to terminate its association with the army without expressing to you, and through you to the officers and men of the Marine Corps, the deep sentiment of the War Department and of the army toward it. The whole history of the brigade in France is one of conspicuous service; when it was finally incorporated into the Second Division of the American army it had an early opportunity to give a heroic demonstration of the unconquerable tenacity and dauntless courage of American soldiers. From then on in successive, almost continuous battles, the Marine Brigade and the division of which it was a part, fought sternly and successfully until victory was obtained by the allied armies. Throughout this long contest, the marines, both by their valor and their tragic losses, heroically sustained, added an imperishable chapter to the history of America's participation in the world war."

"On behalf of the army I congratulate the Navy Department, the Major-General commanding the marines, those who have been instrumental in the formation and training of this splendid organization and the officers and men of the organization itself."

Replying on behalf of Secretary Daniels and the officers and men of the Marine Corps, acting Secretary Roosevelt characterized the Second Division, composed of marines and regulars as "one of the greatest fighting organizations the world has ever known."

ADMITTS HE HAS MARRIED EIGHT WOMEN AND LOVED THEM ALL

Missouri Charged With Bigamy in New York Says He Studied Lives of Solomon, David and Jacob.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Charles Wilson, 48, of Belleville, Mo., yesterday admitted to Judge Wadhams in General Sessions that he had married eight women in 19 years and said he had no regrets.

Wilson was indicted on complaint of Fay J. Zaff of New York, whom he married on Nov. 12, 1916, while it was alleged, he was married to Caroline K. Morris of Mount Vernon. Five feet four in his socks, Wilson is a thin little man.

"Guiltily," he said, when arraigned, "How many?" demanded the Court. Wilson answered "Eight," and stood there sturdily as a willow plume.

Judge Wadhams wanted to know how such things could be.

"Well, I'm a Y. M. C. A. worker and a traveling salesman and a Bible student, and I used to be a physical instructor," said Wilson. "In the Bible I studied especially the lives of Solomon and David and Jacob, and they all had many wives."

He said all his wives were trustful, Christian, economical women. "They came to me in distress and I was successful to them. Two of them were in trouble, so I helped them. I am a traveling salesman. At times I make $50 to $60 a day. Besides, four of my wives were widows and had money when I married them. Also, I didn't support all of them all the time. They were distributed over a period of 19 years. I met them here and there in my travels, most of them in church. And I loved them all."

Judge Wadhams said he would impose sentence tomorrow.

WAITRESS HELD AFTER ESCORT IS FOUND DEAD IN HOTEL

She Says Man Fainted After Return From Park; Inquest Will Be Held.

Emma Watson, 27 years old, 1714 Chestnut street, a waitress in a restaurant at 18 North 14th street, was arrested at 11 o'clock last night, after she had called policemen to a room at the Aberdeen Hotel, where Fred Lavender, 25 years old, an engineer, whose home was in Elgin, Ill., was found dead in bed.

She was ordered held for the Coroner pending an inquest. She had in her possession when arrested, $143.70 in cash and three watches. One of the watches, she said, belonged to Lavender and had been given to her by the engineer yesterday for safekeeping.

The girl told policemen she had met Lavender several weeks ago, when he came into her restaurant for his meals. He worked for the Terminal Railroad in East St. Louis. She said she had gone to school with him several times and last

ALL BELLEVILLE MINES FORCED TO SUSPEND

Investigation Fails to Disclose Any in Operation—Strikers Plan to Oust Officials.

Inquiry by a Post-Dispatch report, today failed to disclose a single coal mine in operation in the Belleville district, in which the miners are striking. Twelve men this morning reported at the Superior mine, which has 160 employees. They were put to work at odd jobs around the mine. With this exception, the solid front of the miners apparently is unbroken.

At a convention held yesterday afternoon at the Lyric Theater in Belleville, and attended by 119 delegates, representing 67 locals with a membership of more than 20,000 miners, John Melish of Weaver, Ill., in answer to a question, said the convention "was called for the purpose of injecting a little democracy into the United Mine Workers of America."

As has been the case at other meetings, considerably more time was taken in denouncing officers of the State union organization than in complaining against the employers.

Several striking miners declared during the meeting that Frank H. Farrington, president of the State organization, against whom the rebellion is directed, had received a present of a silver service from a mine owner at Springfield.

It was stated on the floor of the convention that 22 locals have made formal requests for the calling of a State convention, and have been ignored. The by-laws of the union provide that 15 locals can call a convention.

A resolution was passed calling for a special State convention to be held at Springfield, Aug. 19, at which time it was announced, an effort will be made to oust the State officers. This is carrying the fight to Farrington, as his headquarters are at Springfield, and he is supposed to have his strongest following there.

It also was decided to print a bulletin regularly, giving news of the strike and to mail it to all miners in the State.

night accompanied him to Forest Park Highlands, returning to the hotel shortly after 10 o'clock. She said he was seized with a fainting spell shortly after they arrived at the room and she sent for a doctor. The latter did not arrive quick enough and she called policemen. Displeased physicians said he apparently had suffered an attack of heart trouble.

CRUISED SIX MONTHS IN ARCTIC OCEAN ON HUGE ICE FLOW

Explorer Will Report to Stefansson at Banff on Observations in the North.

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 14.—Sturges T. Storkerson, who passed six months adrift on a huge ice flow in the Arctic Ocean, reached here Tuesday night en route to Banff, where he said, he expected to report Saturday to Vilhjalmur Stefansson, his chief, on observations made during his unique cruise.

With 14 followers Storkerson set out from Borden Island with 80 dogs and eight sledges, and in May, 1919, selected an ice flow on which he purposed to remain for a year or more with the object of determining the currents, if any, in Beaufort Sea, taking soundings and discovering new land. Stefansson had intended to accompany the expedition, but at the last moment was taken ill and was forced to return to civilization. After drifting four months Storkerson was taken ill and on Oct. 9, 1918, the party, then in latitude 74, longitude 147 west, left the flow, started its return to the American continent and arrived at Cape Hallett Nov. 7. From Cape Hallett they proceeded to Borden Island, where they fell in with Capt. Anderson, from whom they obtained supplies for the winter of 1919.

Storkerson is inclined to believe, owing to certain phenomena observed, that land exists north of the point reached by his party on the ice flow. The flow upon which the party embarked was seven miles wide and 15 miles in length. Seals, polar bears, ducks, and land birds abounded on it.

Keenan Land, which was supposed to have been found by Capt. Keenan, was found to be nonexistent.

NEGRO ACCUSED OF KILLING

A verdict of homicide was returned by a coroner's jury today at the inquest of Patrolman Louis E. Niederschulte, 27 years old, of 3818A Oregon avenue, who was killed Tuesday night by James Mitchell, 19 years old, a negro, in the rear of 1517 South Second street. Niederschulte and Patrolman Timothy Mahoney were investigating a complaint that Mitchell, armed with a rifle, was threatening to kill another negro. When they entered the yard, which adjoins that of Mitchell's home, Mitchell, who was hiding under a porch fired at them with a rifle, killing Niederschulte. He later was captured hiding in the cellar.

BE CAREFUL WHAT YOU WASH YOUR HAIR WITH

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulford coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—ADV.

MORE PERSONS MAKE PROTESTS AT PRICES

Few Letters Contain Practical Suggestions for Curbing Advancing Costs.

Protests against the high cost of living continue to reach the Post-Dispatch office, but few of the writers attempt to offer any practical suggestions to remedy conditions. Ira S. Fisher of Missouri Hills, Mo., aroused by reading that the food hoarders in Germany had dumped their wares on the market as soon as the blockade was lifted, permitting stores from other countries to enter, proposes that the United States prohibit exportation of food at least for a time.

William E. Rutledge of Kirkwood says that retailers tell him the wholesale quotations published daily in the Post-Dispatch are "lies," and wants a law that will require a retailer to make public the price at which he makes purchases. "A Real American" wants to go back to the "wonderful days of 1896-97," and a widow of 25 says she is dying of consumption brought on by starvation in the "land of the free and the home of the brave."

And Buy With Discretion. Mr. Fisher's letter says: "In the name of American suffering humanity, and to appease its dangerous unrest, would it not be feasible to halt those food hoarders in New York and possibly other cities, Pittsburgh for instance, prohibiting exportation of it, allow hoarders fair profits, and make them unload to the American people?"

"That 5,000,000 tons of essential food held in storage, would mean about six months of good eats. "Since German hoarders got scared and dumped it, feeding the German peoples, let a dumping occur this side of the pond, and feed ourselves a while."

"I am not calling myself a genius nor soliciting any applause for speaking up, but I am a thoroughbred American, both by birth and intentions. Was ever a more beautiful prospect ahead of any people, but it is being strangled. Some folks seem to criticize the kickers for kicking, but strangulation makes any kind of a living thing kick."

"Then, everybody who can help out Mr. McDaniell, Circuit Attorney, with reports or evidence, either great or small, or put him on the trail—running down the profiteering retailers—get busy, and also use discretion in buying. Don't we all think that would do much?"

Makes Three Suggestions.

Writing from Kirkwood Rutledge says:

"I would like to suggest: "1. That the shoe men tell us what they get at wholesale for shoes we pay $5, $10 and $15 for. In all their statements they avoid giving this information. From the statement they make, including the price of leather and wages, the cost of production has not increased hardly $1 a pair. Shoes I used to buy for $5 will now cost me $12 and $15. "2. The Post-Dispatch publishes daily the wholesale price of many food articles. I go into a store to buy some of these articles and am asked from 75 to 100 per cent more than the wholesale price. I call the dealers' attention to the price list in the Post-Dispatch and am told that the prices given there are lies. "3. A man can't buy a good round steak in Kirkwood for less than 45 cents a pound. The paper stated a few days ago that the packers were selling the butcher the best quarter of round steak at 18 cents a pound. A packing house official was a guest in my home last week and he stated to me as his opinion that no butcher in Kirkwood bought the best meat and that very little of the best meat was bought by anybody in or near St. Louis."

$50 a Month for Four. The widow of 28 writes: "While reading Wednesday's Post-Dispatch I became very interested in the complaints of housewives and others regarding the high cost of living, especially the letter of E. S. C. asking how he is to remain honest with a family to support on $100 a month. At the rate everything is now I think Mr. E. S. C. very fortunate to be drawing $100 a month. How about the less fortunate that draw only half that amount, like myself, for instance, a widow with a family of four to support and none able to help themselves. "I, too, tried to do my bit by donating my mite to every drive and by buying two Liberty bonds, besides being on the decline for the last year. When I first consulted a doctor he told me to drink plenty of good fresh milk, fresh eggs and sherry and egg in the morning when I could not eat any breakfast. Well, eggs got beyond my reach at 65 and 75 cents a dozen, the wine, my only medicine, was deliberately taken away from me July 1, and the milk—'ye gawds!—how can I buy it at $10 a week when it is 15 cents a quart?"

"Sometimes I wonder how I am to keep honest. Were it not for my kind-hearted foreman, I suppose we all would starve. It is just through kindness he keeps me, for I positively know I am not worth $8 a week to him on account of being off half the time. If something is not done real soon to cut the high cost of living I am afraid I'll have to do something desperate. Sometimes I think it would be almost a crime to teach my little Christian babies to live in the old saying of 'God helps them that helps themselves.' But sooner than see them go into consumption like their mother for the want of proper food, I think I'll teach them anything. Dying of starvation in the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave, at the age of 28."

Bring Back the Old Days. Some other letters say: To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch. It is about time somebody is waking up in regard to the high cost of living. If we had a few more men at the head of our country such as the press like William G. Lee, president of the Railroad Trainmen, and Senator Reed, it would give the poor man a chance to live, while now he has a hard time existing.

What good does it do the poor man when all eatables that are raised are bought up by the commission men and put in cold storage or left on the ground to rot? It would be a grand idea for the 'secre' service men to go to Booth's cold storage and St. Louis Refrigerating and Cold Storage Co. and have an inventory taken of all foodstuffs, and find out to whom they belong, and how long they have been there, and then compel them to put them on the market for sale. What chance have the poor people nowadays canning or preserving, when sugar is selling at 2 1/2 cents a pound? It looks as if the canning trust and the big five would like to starve the poor man to death. What good does it do a poor man to give him a few cents increase in salary and the next day to take it away in the price of provisions? America is supposed to be a free country, but now it is anything but free. Why not bring back the wonderful days we had some years ago, say 1896-97, when we had a real man at the head of our country? A REAL AMERICAN.

No 72 Kinds of Food in Army. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch. After reading over the list of 72 food staples offered by the War Department to be sold to the public, I was thinking of the doughboys who drilled and hiked day and night over there—tired and hungry—in the trenches for many days and nights without removing shoes or clothes, waiting to go over the top. If they had read of these 72 kinds of food they would have thought it only a dream. They knew of nothing but one or two—corned beef and hard

Harriet, Marjorie and Nona Gentry, all of whom reside in the 800 block on McLaran avenue, gave a show at 514 McLaran and made $3 for the Milk and Ice Fund.

Julian Flieg, 4½ years old, conducted a lemonade stand in front of his home at 4747 McPherson avenue recently and earned $2.10 for the babies.

A show which was to have been given in July at 4680 St. Ferdinand avenue was not presented because some of the leading actors of the "troupe" departed to spend their vacations in the country. Lloyd J.
Mueller, who was managing the affair, turned $1.92 into the fund yesterday, announcing that it represented the advance sale of tickets for the postponed affair.

DENVER TO VOTE ON CAR FARES

Two Propositions for Adjustment of Charges to Be Submitted.

By the Associated Press.
DENVER, Aug. 14.—Two propositions for adjustment of the tramway fare problem, one calling for an "elastic" six-cent fare, the other a service-at-cost system, will be submitted to the voters here at a special election.

The "elastic" fare system, sponsored by the city and the tramway company, provides for six-cent fares as long as present wages to train-men continue or until the average wages in five other cities fall below the wage schedule here. Street car workers receive 48 cents an hour.
The service-at-cost plan, providing for a fluctuating fare based on earnings of the tramway company, is backed by a committee of 55 representative Denver citizens. Neither the city officials nor the tramway company approve the service-at-cost proposal.

Tramway employees are demanding a wage scale of 70 cents an hour. Under the "elastic" plan, wages of trainmen here are to correspond with those received by street railway workers in St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

TELLS OF EARLY GRAVE ROBBERS

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Ghouls flourished in ancient Egypt, playing their trade with enough cunning to put modern grave robbers to shame, according to Ambrose Lansing, of the Egypt department of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, who returned yesterday from Thebes, with personal evidence of Pedu Rost, Mayor and chief priest of that city about 700
B. C.

"After excavating in Pedu Rost's tomb," said Lansing, "I found evidences that grave robbers had cut their way there on their own account 2000 years before us, and had made off with a number of jewels. I imagine they were frightened away before they finished, however, for we found many rare relics left."

PARENTS WARNED TO BEWARE OF STRANGER WHO STOPS GIRLS

Young Man on South Side Invites School Children to Accompany Him.

Complaints have been made by parents living on the South Side that a young man is stopping girls of grammar school age on the street and is asking them what school they attend. When a girl replies to this question the young man says he represents the Board of Health and tries to get the girl to accompany him, as he says, to the board's office. In cases reported thus far the girls have refused to go.

The police consider the young man a dangerous character, and parents are advised to caution their children not to go with any stranger under such circumstances, but to refer him to the parents.

CONSTIPATION—If people troubled with constipation would spend three to five minutes each day in taking a few deep breaths, and in rubbing the upper part of the abdomen and at night before retiring take a little purgative, permanent and highly satisfactory results will soon follow. Drink plenty of fresh water, avoid strong purgatives and foods that have a stimulating tendency. People planning to travel should take a few capsules of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills before they start. The purified toxin is expensive and can be obtained from Dr. J. C. exclusively to Firestone Rims. Vast as is its present capacity it is inadequate to supply the demand for Firestone Rims. Ground is broken for a steel plant double this capacity.

90% OF FIRESTONE WORKERS ARE STOCK-HOLDERS in the Company. They have a financial interest in every Firestone customer. Better tires mean more customers. You get the benefit of the best work possible.

PLANT No. 2—Devoted exclusively to 3 1/4-inch tires—capacity 16,000 a day. This new plant with Plant No. 1 gives Firestone largest tire capacity in America. Builds the most nearly perfect 3 1/4-inch tire constructed and saves from 10% to 30% on every factory operation.

FIRESTONE PARK—A beautiful, practical home community. Firestone men own their own homes.
They put more into their work because they are getting more out of it. You benefit in extra miles per dollar.

FIRESTONE PARK BANK—Firestone makes saving easy and alluring. And Firestone has established a Free Insurance Fund. Men with assured futures work better. You benefit in extra mileage.

FIRESTONE CLUBHOUSE—Another step in the Firestone building of an organization that can do things better than others. Firestone advantages attract and hold the best men.

BRANCH HOUSES in 63 leading cities serving 42,000 Firestone dealers, and wide distribution economically handled, is another reason for extra value in Firestone Tires.

FABRIC MILL—To insure the best without having to add a premium to price of tires and to get uniform quality and supply, Firestone invested in this mill. You benefit in long mileage
tires at low price.

ERATHOL IS FINE FOR INDIGESTION AYS DR. PARRISH

Since the publication of Dr. Edward Parrish's recommendation of ordinary erathol for indigestion, gas, acidity and neurosis, it has won instant favor with scores of dyspeptics all over the country.

When you have that "big-lump-in-the-stomach" feeling or belching, gas or bad breath from an upset stomach, just take a little ordinary erathol, wait one minute or two, and you'll probably say that others have said: "erathol works the magic." At any rate it is perfectly harmless, pleasant to take and can be obtained at trifling cost from Jones &
Delph, Enderle Drug Stores, Johnson
Bro's Drug Co., Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., in St. Louis and all first-class druggists.

Today's Health Hints

CONSTIPATION—If people troubled with constipation would spend three to five minutes each day in taking a body-building exercise that employs the muscles of the abdomen and at night before retiring take a little purgative such as erathol, permanent and highly satisfactory results will soon follow. Fresh plenty of fresh water, avoid strong purgatives and foods that have a con-stipating tendency and this simple plan cannot fail. The purified toilet is inexpensive and can be obtained from Jones
& Delph, Enderle Drug Stores, Johnson
Bro's Drug Co., Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., in St. Louis and any good druggist.

Is it Possible to Legislate Life and Brains?

Swift & Company is primarily an organization of men, not a collection of brick, mortar, and machinery.

Packing Plants, their equipment and usefulness are only outward symbols of the intelligence, life long experience, and right purpose of the men who compose the organization and of those who direct it.

Will not Government direction of the packing industry, now contemplated by Congress, take over the empty husk of physical property and equipment and sacrifice the initiative, experience and devotion of these men, which is the life itself of the industry?

What legislation, what political adroitness could replace such life and brains, once driven out?

Let us send you a "Swift Dollar." It will interest you.

Sparta, Ill., Aug. 14.—Mines Kirby, 49 years old was instantly killed yesterday by falling coal at the Moffat mine, where the miners had just returned to work after five days' idleness on account of the strike.

BLOOD IS YOUR LIFE; YOU MUST KEEP IT PURE

All Impurities Must Be Eliminated

When the blood becomes foul from the presence of poisonous substances, which the body is unable to throw off, it can no longer supply the nerves, brain and muscles with nourishment and strength. The result is that you are miserable, half sick and feel tired all the time.

If you will cleanse the blood of all impurities, you will find that your work will be a pleasure, you will eat and sleep well and enjoy good health. One of the best blood cleansers or purifiers known today is the prescription of a successful physician. He used it for years in his practice for the treatment of disorders of the blood.

You can still get this same splendid prescription, ready prepared, from your druggist. Just call for Prescription C-2223, or the C-2223 Laboratory, Memphis, Tenn., will mail you a $1.50 bottle on receipt of price.

Prescription C-2223 contains no mercury, opium, morphine, chloral or strychnine. While sold in concentrated form, and is to be taken in small doses, its use will not harm the most delicate stomach. Write for literature—C-2223 Laboratory, Memphis, Tenn.

ROMANIAN ABOUT TO QUIT BUDAPEST

Amsterdam Hears Action Will Result From Note From Peace Conference.

By the Associated Press. Aug. 14.—Rumanian troops are about to leave Budapest in consequence of the note sent to Rumania by the peace conference, according to a wireless dispatch received here from Vienna, quoting newspapers of that city.

Dispatches from the Interallied Military Commission containing inquiries as to that body's powers were considered yesterday and the council sent additional instructions to Budapest. It is understood the commission was advised that orders are not to be given to the commanders of the Rumanian army, but that the members of the mission should hold themselves in readiness to confer with Rumanian officials preparatory to an adjustment of the strained situation.

Rumania in no wise favors the installation of Archduke Joseph in power in Hungary, according to a declaration made to the Temps by Victor Antonesco, Rumanian Minister here.

"The Bucharest Government has no reason for sympathy either for the Archduke personally or the reactionary regime which he represents," Antonesco says. "Rumania certainly will not support any government in Budapest which is not acceptable to the Entente."

In discussing the alleged seizure of supplies in Hungary by Rumanian forces, the Minister says: "The Rumanian army's requisitions do not nearly approach those of the Hungarians in Rumania during the war. Rumanian representatives in Budapest have received strict instructions to examine this question in accord with Entente representatives."

Antonesco continues by saying that the "happy result" of Rumania's intervention has been to permit allied and associated representatives to re-enter Budapest and the suppression of Bolshevik propaganda. He says that it is now the task of the allies, with Rumania's assistance, to install in Budapest a government with which a definite peace may be concluded.

"I am sure," he concludes, "the allies will find our representatives devoted and friendly collaborators. The bonds of union between France and Rumania especially are too strong ever to be broken for mere questions of form."

Vienna Hears of Demand Hungary Be United With Rumania.

VIENNA, Tuesday, Aug. 12.—A statement attacking England and America, demanding that Hungary be united with Rumania under the sovereignty of King Ferdinand and threatening to strip Hungary if the Rumanian army is forced to withdraw from that country, has been presented to Archduke Joseph, head of the Hungarian Government, by the authorized Rumanian representative at Budapest, according to dispatches received here.

Austrian Soldiers Object to a Monarchy in Hungary.

By the Associated Press. BERLIN, Aug. 14.—It is reported from Vienna that the entire armed forces of Austria are protesting against alleged efforts to establish a monarchy. The soldiers, in a demonstration before the Parliament Building, urged that the republican form of government be retained. There were similar demands in the country district.

STRIPED SHIRT AND GREEN CAP IDENTIFY YOUTH AS ROBBER

One of Two Boys Who Held Up Chouteau Avenue Store Admits His Part.

A blue striped shirt and green cap which he wore led to the identification of Clarence Daniels, 18 years old, of 1016 South Eighth street, yesterday, as one of two coatless youths who earlier the day had held up Jacob Krause in his dry goods store at 609 Chouteau avenue and robbed the cash drawer of $43.

After the robbery Krause gave the police descriptions of the fancy shirts worn by the youths, with the additional detail that one wore a green cap. On this description Daniels was arrested at Twelfth street and Chouteau avenue.

He denied connection with the robbery at first, but after he had been identified by Krause he confessed. He gave police the nickname of the youth who accompanied him to the store and went around last night with detectives trying to find the rooming house where the youth lives. Daniels says his companion held the revolver while he searched the cash drawer. He turned over to the detectives $43, which, he said, was all he received as his share of the money.

NUXATED IRON

"Say, Doctor, This Prescription Works Like Magic."

Physician Says Nuxated Iron Quickly Puts Astonishing Strength and Energy Into the Veins of Men and Brings Roses to the Cheeks of Nervous, Run-Down Women.

Ask the first hundred strong, healthy people you meet to what they owe their strength and see how many reply "Nuxated Iron." Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, says: "Thousands of people suffer from iron deficiency but do not know what to take. There is nothing like organic iron—Nuxated Iron, to enrich the blood, make beautiful, healthy women, and strong, vigorous iron men. To make absolutely sure that my patients get real organic iron and not some form of the metallic variety, I always prescribe Nuxated Iron in its original packages. Nuxated Iron will increase the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, run-down folks in two weeks' time in many instances."

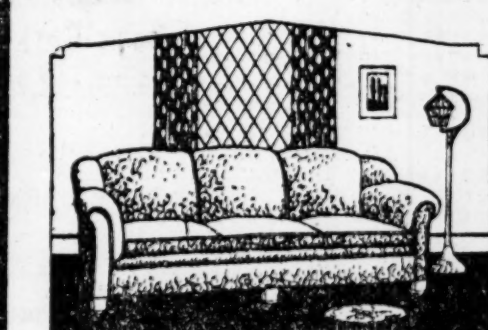

MANUFACTURER'S NOTE: Nuxated Iron recommended above by Dr. Sullivan can be obtained from any good druggist with or without a physician's prescription on an absolute manufacturer's guarantee of success or money refunded.

FRIDAY IS CORSET DAY

In Famous-Barr Co.'s Unrivalled August Sales

“Corset Day” is one of the most looked-forward-to occasions of this eventful campaign—and tomorrow it will gain additional value-giving laurels. Although Corsets are as scarce as they were six months ago—and higher in price than ever before—we have been able to assemble during the past few months a wonderful line of the country's best-known makes, and will offer them tomorrow at prices that will cause every thoughtful woman to anticipate her needs far into the future. Because of the large numbers who always attend this sale, our usual fitting service will be suspended for this day, although appointments may be made for some future time.

Modart Corsets

$7.50 to $12 Values—Friday... $4.45

Sample Modart Front-Lace Corsets of handsome pink and white silk brocade and plain imported coutil. New low bust and long hip models. Sizes somewhat broken, ranging up to 36.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the rights of all parties, never being to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

The Charges Against Conductors.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The United Railways conductors want fairness, and object to the slander that causes every conductor in the service to be looked upon by the public as a "tormenting crook." If any United Railways conductor would apply now for a bonded or position of trust elsewhere, what chance would he have if he says he has been a United Railways conductor?

The company's "chief spotter" made a statement to a Post-Dispatch reporter in which he said the company estimated that $1200 to $1600 a day was being misappropriated in cash fares by conductors, but he did not tell this reporter how much the company's cash fare would overregister on the poor conductor. It is a fact that in many cases a conductor would have to borrow money so he could turn in what the cash fare box registers, as the boxes would register more money than he received or what was deposited in the boxes. When dimes will register $10 and nickels register $5 on a poor conductor it is "going some," but the company cannot say the fare boxes will always register correct. If we did not make a kick for different fare boxes the company would get more than our monthly pay.

The company says conductors were giving out mutilated nickels that register one cent, and dimes register one cent, but did not say anything about the mutilated and foreign coins that would register more than their face value. These coins are deposited by passengers during the hour, which the conductors have to make good. Some of the fare boxes would mutilate pennies as they were through, leaving pieces cut out of the pennies, as the cut would be fresh. We are anxious for the Federal authorities to make a thorough investigation of these defective fare boxes and save the poor, innocent conductor and put a stop to the boxes mutilating coins.

The chief "spotter" from Cincinnati says that employees own flats, automobiles, player-pianos and victrolas, and wants to know how they do it on 36 to 42 cents per hour, unless they are stealing money from the company. The company is investigating to find out how many employees own such. We admit that a few employees own farms, flats, automobiles and victrolas and have owned them before they were employed by the United Railways, and some of the employees are trying to own such by paying on the installment plan; a great many of them have been forced to give up what they tried to make payments on. We tried to be Americans and buy Liberty Bonds, but had to cash them so we could pay our bills. When the company asks us if we own an automobile, piano player or victrola, would you think they have a suspicion we stole the money from the company to buy such? If we borrow money and pay interest on it so we can feed our babies, would it be fair and just for the company to insinuate that we stole the money to answer the cries of the little hungry babies?

We most earnestly appeal to the public to stay with us for fairness and justice.

Against Class Control.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Have read with great interest the demands of the railroad brotherhoods and their Socialist plans for controlling the railroads. They say that 5,000,000 men back their demands, but do not say that the large majority of the American people are opposed to Socialism of any kind. As an ex-member of the American Expeditionary Forces, I feel confident that the majority of our ex-fighting men are opposed to Socialism in all its forms. The man that gave up everything they had to go to France and fight for democracy are not going to stand quietly and see a small number of any class threaten to wreck our country with any of their selfish demands. When the railroad brotherhoods learn to make just demands that are not tainted with class legislation, they will have the sympathy of the American public, and not before.

JAMES H. MAGUIRE JR.

De Valera.

To the Editor, Post-Dispatch.

Mr. Albert J. Valera suggests in your paper that "the ship and deport" is "the first step" in the "Irish question." To where, Mr. Albert? Mr. De Valera is not a British subject as he was born in the United States, his father being a Spaniard, and he says in a recent interview that he has renounced his American citizenship; this state of facts being true if our Government deports Mr. De Valera he must be sent to Spain of which country he is a subject or citizen, as under the law, having renounced his American citizenship he becomes a subject of King Alfonso of Spain, the land of his father.

The facility with which De Valera can "escape" from an English prison, avoid apprehension and come to America leads me to the conclusion that England is not trying very hard to curb the activities of our distinguished visitor.

MARTIN W. CASSIDY.

OUR EVER PRESENT MEXICAN PROBLEM.

A fair and exhaustive investigation into Mexican conditions since the fall of Diaz is promised by a Foreign Relations subcommittee consisting of Senators Fall, Brandegee and Smith. Nothing can have in it greater possibilities of benefit to Mexico itself just at present. It can provide guarantees for our own peace of mind.

Nine years ago now Mexico was preparing to begin on Sept. 1 a month of festivities in celebration of 100 years of independence. While there was much talk in high-flown Spanish of escape from the injustice of the foreign oppressor, Francisco Madero lay that month in a noisome jail because of the offense of aspiring to be a candidate for the presidency against Diaz.

Released after Diaz had begun the thirtieth year of his service as executive, Madero engaged in rebellion and 20,000 American troops had to be sent to guard the border. One year later Diaz had fled, Madero as provisional President had been succeeded by Madero as constitutional President through the regular election and was himself harassed by the country's further relapse into the insurrectionary habit.

On Feb. 9, 1913, the arsenal revolt at Mexico City took place. Traitor Huerta, summoned to suppress it, joined the rebels and connived at Madero's assassination. Carranza, aided by Villa, revolted against Huerta and established a capital at Hermosilla, where he issued currency and ruled the northern provinces. On April 9, 1914, came the "Tampico incident." Twelve days later we captured Vera Cruz. In July Huerta fled, and on Aug. 20 Carranza made a triumphant entry into Mexico City, but with Villa not present among the other Constitutional leaders and enraged in consequence and planning further revolt.

Jan. 11, 1915, Villa massacred 19 Americans at Santa Ysabel and March 9 engaged in the raid on Columbus. We sent nearly 100,000 troops to the border. The Pershing expedition pursued Villa far into Mexico and but for the fussy Carranza might have eliminated him forever as a disturbing factor to Mexico and Carranza himself.

Since 1910 we have had a "Mexican problem." It has cost us hundreds of millions in outlays from the treasury and in loss of private fortunes and many lives. During all this time the watch on the Rio Grande has tediously continued, continues to this day. Thousands of troops were held there last year that were needed in Europe.

And the Mexican problem seems just as much of a problem now as it was nine years ago. How shall we solve it? Just now we are absorbed in the settlement of our late war. But when that is out of the way, when things now subordinated resume their former importance, what may happen? With news of some further outrage against Americans, the entire country might be set aflame.

A thoroughgoing inquiry can bring out facts forcing on Mexicans a new consciousness of their obligations. It can provide us a guide to future action by showing that disquieting reports we occasionally hear picture only too accurately a state of disorder that may be interminable unless combated by outside aid. It may allay apprehension by showing that such reports are based only on sporadic incidents. To allay in advance possible causes of apprehension will be valuable.

Facts will be a safer reliance than biased charges by the oil interests. To send the right sort of an investigating committee to the border will be better than to send an expeditionary force—more forestall clamorous demands for such a force later.

OUR HALF-SOLED MILLIONAIRES.

The half-soled shoe, which Mr. McAdoo commended to us in the early days of the war, has become fashionable in Chicago's multimillionaire colony. Mr. Armour and Mr. Rosenwald have both prolonged the life of their shoes by consulting the cobbler, and neither of those gentlemen, we are informed, has bought a pair of new shoes in several years.

Such practice is undoubtedly effective in combating the profiteer. It should come into universal adoption. Unfortunately, though, that is not practicable. The majority of people, upon whom shoe prices have worked a hardship, do not possess a sufficient surplus of footwear to tide them over a war and an armistice. They buy their shoes a pair at a time. Where they have several pairs of small feet to provide for, as frequently happens, it is a serious problem.

The thrift of Chicago's multimillionaires is praiseworthy, of course, but as far as the average man and his shoes are concerned, "it doesn't mean anything."

THE MILK DISTRIBUTING SYSTEM.

Milk prices in St. Louis might be substantially reduced by a more intelligent system of distribution, according to the secretary of the Southern Illinois Producers' Association. The waste is obvious, he points out, where a half-dozen wagons from as many different dairies deliver milk to one apartment house.

The zone system of distribution which this producer proposes has been up for consideration before. Theoretically it is attractive. Practically, there are difficulties. People have their preferences as to dairies. They would be loath to yield their right to buy milk where they choose, where service or quality or both determined their choice. The zone system of milk distribution may not be condemned out of hand, but neither will it evoke instantaneous approval.

A good many factors enter into present milk prices. Included among them may be the determination of the Southern Illinois Milk Producers' Association to make its profits because, as a member of that association was recently quoted as saying, "We have the power to fix prices." Another factor is the absence of competition among local distributors as regards prices. Such quasi, or partial, monopolies may be beyond the reach of the law, but the arm of Uncle Sam is long, once the people are aroused.

The people are aroused now.

ROCKEFELLER'S EXAMPLE.

The newspapers carried a characteristic Rockefeller story a short time ago. While motoring through New England the party stopped at a gasoline station to replenish its fuel supply. Suspecting the measure was short, Mr. Rockefeller asked for a test. The request was pleasantly complied with, and the measure was shown to contain a full gallon.

This incident matches perfectly with President Wilson's advice as to the necessity for individual thrift in the present crisis. We are urged to buy carefully and to exercise discrimination in choosing the shops to trade with.

The advice ought to be heeded. If it is prices will come down and come down fast. Congress may pass laws and officials may prosecute offenders vigorously, but economy and "close" buying on the part of the public will prove a greater corrective of fictitious prices than laws or official vigilance.

Mr. Rockefeller may not be cited as an admirable example in all respects, but in taking pains to see that he is not cheated he is practicing a virtue we should all emulate.

SENATOR LODGE SEES THINGS.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

THIRD-TERM TALK.

From the Boston Evening Transcript.

Will there be a third-term candidate for the presidency in 1927? Even the most favored among the journalists who cultivate the approaches to "the throne of Administration" disagree in their answers to that question. That while the Republican politicians will tell you that "the third-term handicap" would make him the easiest candidate to defeat, "they tremble in their boots" at the possibility of his consenting to accept a third-term nomination, and "look pale in the gills while they are telling you." In spite of their tremors and their palor, Mr. Grasty reports that "among those of President Wilson's friends who have no ax to grind, the sentiment seems pretty solidly against his permitting himself to be drawn into a third-term fight." These friends apparently differing from Mr. Grasty in their interpretation of Republican palor. Mr. Grasty concludes his survey of the situation with the assurance that "the President will be master of himself under all circumstances and will not be drawn into any ill-starred ventures to further the political fortunes of others"—he, too, apparently accepting with real "reservations" Mr. Grasty's reading of the popular pulse.

To the New York World today Mr. Louis Seibold telegraphs from Washington that "sentiment is pretty general among leaders of his (Mr. Wilson's) party that he will have to be a candidate to succeed himself, and while most of them concede personal desires to the contrary, they all believe he will not run away from the Republican challenge to carry the Democratic standard."

Here are two devoted admirers of the Administration, each an experienced observer of public men and events, who differ widely in their interpretation of the Republican attitude toward a third-term candidate in 1927. The representative of the Times pictures the Republicans as "trembling in their boots" and looking "pale in the gills" when a third-term candidacy is talked of. Now we have not been accustomed to associate these manifestations of inner feeling with the language or the posture of "challenge." Yet Mr. Seibold gives his readers to understand that it is "the Republican challenge" which will force the third-term candidacy he so confidently forecasts.

The time was when the third-term talk, even in whispers, evoked only the editorial pages of the Times and the World challenge not only but also condemnation. That was in 1912. This

MOST soldiers, it seems, are not fond of the British.

They admire them as soldiers. They admire their organization. The British army in France was a wonder.

British aviation beat everything. The British navy—

Well, that way, but not as regular fellows.

However, I saw an American the other day who got along all right with the British.

He was crazy about them. He had been over to France in the regular army a matter of sixteen months.

He had gone through five big battles without a scratch.

When I saw him he was on a transcontinental train en route to his home at Portland, Ore.

What do you suppose he was bringing back with him?

He had found her in France, and just brought her home with him as a sort of war trophy.

They were both terribly tickled about it.

I couldn't help laughing to think of another soldier I had seen who brought home a German helmet!

Odd-bods!

This Portland fellow knew about the trophy business.

They had both come over just as they were dressed at the war—he in khaki and she in her blue field suit with Tam O'Shanter to match.

She told me she was from the Isle of Jersey, where the Jersey lilies come from, and she was something of a Jersey lily herself.

She had fine brown eyes, and drawled as the British all do.

She had no pretty clothes, as all the other women on the train did.

All the same, she was the prettiest woman on the train, and all the other women knew it.

They worked desperately in and out of the dressing rooms.

They got out diamonds and furs. They painted and primped. It was no use.

They were not from the Isle of Jersey.

He was immensely proud of her—the soldier.

Is 1919, however, and as Mr. Grasty makes the politicians say: "Circumstances are exceptional"—albeit the tradition against a third for any President has thus far weathered all exceptions.

Written for the POST-DISPATCH by Clark McAdams

She was a little bit of all right.

It had been a long time since anybody had gone out and taken a British possession, all by his lonesome, with no more than his fine face and his young heart.

Some pair—those two. I told him it looked as if he had not shared the prejudices of most American soldiers against the British.

He looked at her, and she looked at him.

Then they both laughed, and he said I guessed it.

I did, too.

The Germans are moving the statues of great Germans out of cities which the Poles are to have. Effigies of Bismarck, Frederick the Great and the celebrated woodcutter of Amerongen are the chief home-comers—as sorrowful a host as ever returned from conquest.

Here is a bit for your column. After reading it to a friend of mine—an incorrigible dry—he agreed that prohibition and everything connected with it is a curse. But then, what does he know about poetry? Here goes:

Alcoholic Blues.

Whether our cellars shall be dry or wet, The Senators have not decided yet. But what if the dries should get it through—

What are we going to do If with flue in the land There is not a drop on hand To fight the foe But H2O?

We are afraid our poet misconstrued the criticism.

O, LAUGH, PIERRROT!

PIERRROT, thou wine bibber, Drunk, lolling drunk, with eyes Bebeared and lips that laugh, Laugh on! Oh, tip thy cup And drink the honeyed dregs. The day wert bitter, Pierrrot!

Laugh! Death is creeping through The shadows. Laugh, Pierrrot, laugh! Sorrow sitteth like a mourning dove, But 'tis yon! Laugh, Pierrrot, laugh! The dawn of tomorrow is black. Laugh, Pierrrot, laugh. While The night's gurdy whines, dance, Pierrrot, dance! While men Call thee fool, laugh, Pierrrot, laugh.

When thou mayest not laugh, Pierrrot, And thy cup no longer offendeth thee A sweetest sound, then die, Pierrrot, die!

Palmer to Be Confirmed, German Influences Having Failed in Fight on Him

Investigating Body Solidly for Him; How He Was Fought Because of Work as Alien Property Custodian.

 A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—A. Mitchell Palmer is about to be confirmed by the Senate as attorney general after an unprecedented delay. Not only is it most unusual for the Senate to take exception to the appointment by a president of secretaries for his official family but generally, when the Cabinet appointments have been a member of Congress, the Senate accepts the nomination without question.

A remarkable chain of circumstances, however, has delayed the confirmation of Palmer. It is a chapter in Republican management which some of the Republicans themselves frankly wish had not happened, and is but another instance in which one or two Republicans have served the party from a straight course it might otherwise have taken.

For, just as German influence placed its hand on the Democratic chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the late Senator Stone of Missouri, so have German influences seemed to affect this time the other side of the political aisle of the Senate.

The story of the delay in the confirmation of Attorney-General Palmer involves the drastic action which he took as alien property custodian in getting hold of German property in the United States during the war and preventing German spies in German insurance company branches in this country from aiding Germany or using the funds of American citizens which they controlled.

Some of these insurance companies sent complete maps and data of industrial plants which they had insured back to the headquarters of the German system for apparent use in sabotage work and the alien property custodian dealt severely with those concerns when empowered to do so by law.

Accordingly, when Palmer was named as Attorney-General, persons in New Jersey who had been affected by the alien property custodian's acts caused protest to be made. Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, who had voted against the trading with the enemy act, made the objection in the Senate which caused Palmer's nomination to fail in the last session of Congress. And, when a Republican Congress was convened in May, the New Jersey Senator persuaded his Republican colleagues to hold an investigation of Palmer's record.

It is the story of that investigation which is coming to light, just as a subcommittee, consisting of Senators Dillingham, Fall and Sterling, Republicans, and Overman and Walsh, Democrats, voted unanimously to recommend the confirmation of Palmer.

Mistakenly Begun.

The fact that Senators Dillingham, Fall and Sterling decided in favor of Palmer is clear evidence that the public leaders in the Senate found the investigation to have been mistakenly begun.

And this is why: First, a series of three secret meetings were held by the subcommittee, at which Senator Frelinghuysen was given an opportunity to present several communications reflecting upon Palmer's administration of the office of Alien Property Custodian. Former Attorney-General Lewis of New York appeared at one of these.

Lewis was mistaken. He made serious charges, among them that Palmer was without authority to sell enemy property and had made himself liable to millions of dollars of damages. This came as a shock to the committee, which was relieved only when they discovered that Lewis was mistaken about the law and admitted that he was mistaken.

By the time the investigation had reached its stage, Palmer demanded an open hearing and the right to appear. The Attorney-General has changed her form of government so much as the governing personnel. No tyrant ever has had the power to control the nation, but you know that an honest fanatic in a bad cause is more dangerous than an intelligent knave.

It is impossible to have peace in Europe with chaos in Russia.

"I have a formula which I believe may be a solution, but I fear that it may not meet the approval of the United States Senate, since it is predicated on ratification of the league of nations covenant."

Francis says league is first step in Russian solution.

Ambassador Diggins in Address to Denounced Proposal to Take Over Railroads.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Ratification of the league of nations covenant as the first step in solving the Russian problem was urged by David R. Francis, United States Ambassador to Russia, at a luncheon given by the Advertising Club yesterday. He declared that establishing order in Russia was the first duty of the United States.

Ambassador Francis digressed to refer to the policies of the railroad brotherhoods in advocating Government ownership.

Referring to the maintenance of the respect of Europe," he said, "we must learn to govern ourselves. No class in this country can rule all other classes. We have gained the admiration of the world by settling our differences with the ballist box, and if we are to preserve our self-respect we must continue to do so."

"The spirit of this nation, the spirit that won the war, will not put up with those who threaten violence. We have the means for correcting grievances. The Supreme Court construes the laws of the land. When we lose respect for the legislative and judicial branches of the Government the end is not far off."

Returning to the Russian revolution, he said: "Russia has not from time to time attended these hearings, answering all charges as soon as made, and pointing out again and again that the attack on him has been obviously instigated by the Germans whose property had been taken over during the war.

When press comment from Germany arrived, showing how anxious Germany was to see Palmer's acts condemned, the chain of evidence was complete. Publication of Palmer's report as alien property custodian has been accompanied by a statement expressing the hope "that the Senate investigation may lead to a review of the entire subject of the treatment of enemy property in the United States."

Element of Mystery.

There are many things about the attack on Palmer which bear the element of mystery. Here is one of the most interesting. During the secret hearings, Senator Dillingham laid before the committee a memorandum of serious charges which he said had been handed to him by Senator New of Indiana, who claimed he got it from Horace Stillwell. It was originally stated to Palmer that the memorandum was prepared by an attorney in the office of the alien property custodian. When it finally appeared it bore the name of Leslie Kennard, and contained charges of violations of law by Palmer in handling enemy property.

Kennard was a clerk in the alien property custodian office. When in question, Kennard denied that he had anything to do with the memorandum. He said the facts therein were false so far as he knew and that many statements were outside of his knowledge. He made an affidavit saying he had not made any such statements either orally or in writing.

Palmer communicated this development to the Senate Committee, whereupon Senator Dillingham insisted that Kennard had been presented to him by Senator New and had told him he had prepared such a memorandum. On being further questioned, Kennard denied that he had ever seen Senator New or that he had ever seen the memorandum which Horace Stillwell of Indiana, who had presented the memorandum to Senator New, is an uncle of Kennard. Stillwell, however, telegraphed Senator New that he understood the document was to be used in entire confidence and its authorship in so way disclosed.

Nobody yet solved the mystery of who wrote the memorandum or who started the charges against a prominent official of the Government in the hope that they would be confirmed by the Senate. The investigation and prevent Palmer's confirmation, but the fact is the Senate subcommittee, led by Republicans, Dillingham, Fall and Sterling, refused to stand by their colleagues from New Jersey, Senator Frelinghuysen, and refused to take cognizance of German's wish that the acts of A. Mitchell Palmer be repudiated.

It came to look into the charges Senator Frelinghuysen is represented as having had no personal animus whatsoever against the Attorney-General, and as having himself sponsored none of the charges, but that certain documents had been given him by constituents in New Jersey which he believed should be thoroughly investigated to determine whether or not they contained valid objections.

The test of whether Senator Frelinghuysen had no interest in pushing the investigation other than satisfying his curiosity, was that he had no interest in the investigation, but the fact is the Senate subcommittee, led by Republicans, Dillingham, Fall and Sterling, refused to stand by their colleagues from New Jersey, Senator Frelinghuysen, and refused to take cognizance of German's wish that the acts of A. Mitchell Palmer be repudiated.

It came to look into the charges Senator Frelinghuysen is represented as having had no personal animus whatsoever against the Attorney-General, and as having himself sponsored none of the charges, but that certain documents had been given him by constituents in New Jersey which he believed should be thoroughly investigated to determine whether or not they contained valid objections.

The test of whether Senator Frelinghuysen had no interest in pushing the investigation other than satisfying his curiosity, was that he had no interest in the investigation, but the fact is the Senate subcommittee, led by Republicans, Dillingham, Fall and Sterling, refused to stand by their colleagues from New Jersey, Senator Frelinghuysen, and refused to take cognizance of German's wish that the acts of A. Mitchell Palmer be repudiated.

Real "Yankee" Doughboys Kept Their Hearts Safe for the Girls at Home

Statistics Show Nearly All American Soldiers Who Have Brought Back Foreign Wives Are Either Naturalized Citizens or Sons of Immigrants, and Most of Them Married Girls of Their Own Former Nationality.

By FAY STEVENSON.

MOST of the true blue little American girls who have been sewed at the Red Cross, packed good boxes of homemade jellies, cakes, and other delicacies to their sweethearts overseas, and then gone to bed and wept themselves to sleep for fear these very sweethearts would come back with a chick French bride or a sturdy English lassie, have fretted and worried in vain. A great many American girls have been "scared nearly to death" by constant reports that the foreign girls, and especially the French girls, have been marrying our men by the scores. Well, so they have—but whither? Nearly all the men who have married these girls from other lands are the boys from foreign parents. They are not our "Yankees" whose ancestors came over on the Mayflower; they are not our boys from fine old Dutch families, nor are they the warm-hearted Southern boys. Most of the names of these soldiers who have married foreign girls are just as foreign as the maiden names of their wives! So you see, it is usually a case of like marrying like.

Ninety per cent of the soldiers who have returned with foreign wives are naturalized citizens or the sons of our immigrants," said Mrs. MacDonald, director of the Hostess House in New York, where many of the brides of the doughboys stay while awaiting the discharge of their husbands from the army. "Is it any wonder, then, that they fell in love with the girls of their fathers' land? Many of these boys cannot read or write and most all of them speak the same language as the girls they married."

These marriages are the most natural thing in the world. Most of the girls are really peasant girls and the men are mostly just the same class, their fathers having come from just that type but a few years ago. Even though these boys were born in America, many of them have been reared in that foreign atmosphere right here in their homes. Of course these girls appeal to them, then, even far more than the American girls of their own class could. The girls have been used to work all their lives; they do not care for dress as our modern factory girls. They do not expect shoes which cost $10 a pair, nor fancy silk dresses. They are willing to go hatless, cook, do farm work, raise large families, and remind the boy of foreign parents of his own hardworking mother.

So far we have had about 1700 war brides and 130 children, some of the soldiers having married widows. Of course about 90 per cent are French girls; 30 per cent are English and the rest Italian, French, Belgian, Russian, Swedish and Norwegian.

"The French girls are the hardest to Americanize. These girls have come to a new and strange land and we feel that we at this Hostess

Guarantors Against Doctrines of Revolution and Upheaval—Women

Mrs. Arthur Woods Discusses Psychology of Readjustment.

THE present development and the future safety of America depend on the wisdom and the sense of its women," declares Mrs. Arthur Woods, wife of the Assistant Secretary of War. Col. Woods heads the War Department's work in finding jobs for ex-soldiers.

"Women the world over today are facing, side by side with their men, a great problem of reconstruction," says Mrs. Woods.

Mrs. Woods is watching with keen interest the War Department's efforts to solve the re-employment problems of America's 4,000,000 ex-service men. She is keenly aware in this as in other of her husband's duties of the human factors involved in economic and social problems. When her husband was Police Commissioner of New York City, she was known in an inconspicuous way for her understanding of the psychology of the men of the Police Department in relation to their home life and their dependents.

And now she offers these warnings and these vital suggestions to the wives and the mothers of returned soldiers and sailors.

"In America the woman's direct power in guiding the nation has been recently greatly augmented and with this has come a general quickening of her sense of national responsibility. She will now have to shoulder many new burdens. One of these is to take a big share in the work of re-establishing our discharged service men in civil life. And when all is said and done, without the wise and sympathetic understanding which only the women can give, the men of this country, who have taken part in the great war, cannot fit themselves completely and steadily back into the life of the community."

"We all feel a sense of obligation toward the men who have fought for us, and we want to do all in our power to make those men happy and successful, but do we appreciate the full significance and importance of this work?"

"America can have no stronger guarantee against the spread of dangerous doctrines of revolution and upheaval than that of a contented house would like to make them as much at home as possible. Some of them are here for only a few hours, because their husbands are discharged within that time, but many have to remain several days, and during that time we try to do as much as we can to make their stay pleasant and profitable. The Belgian and English girls are the most susceptible, out of all groups, and we have found many nice, genuine, right-thinking Russian girls.

"Since many of these girls are the peasant type they have no idea of our sanitary, modern ways of living. While they are here we teach them the value of the hot bath, how to take care of their hair, to make dresses, and most important of all, how to care for their babies. Exhibits of baby clothes and maternity clothes have been furnished and the mother's first interest aroused by these.

"Naturally among all these 1700 married couples we have had a good many misunderstandings and little 'tiffs.' Probably they have not been any more serious than with the average couple after the glamor of the honeymoon is over. But, of course, on the other side many soldiers have been spoiled, that is, they have had so many free eats and luxuries heaped upon them that they still had plenty of money left to entertain their brides and give them the things boys like to lavish upon their sweethearts. When they get to America these treats have to be abandoned in many cases and the bare problems of life faced. Many of the soldiers' wives lived in the barracks on the other side; their trip over cost them nothing and the first real expenses they have to face are right here at the Hostess House. The girls can get beds and cots from 50 to 75 cents a day, and then there is a cafeteria, although we do not insist that they take their meals here, of course. Many of the brides say they can get their meals for $1 a day, so you see a doughboy could keep his wife here as reasonably as $1.50 per day.

"But many of the girls want to be taken to theaters and hotels, not the Hostess House. The Belgian and French girls, but these unmanageable little French girls. The soldier who has to buy railroad tickets and plan for the future is not always willing to do this, so that is where the 'tiffs' come in. However, most of these little couples are love couples, and the war and the change of country for the girl blind them very closely together. Since they are all of the same class and come from this peasant and immigrant class we are looking for some very happy results."

So once more I caution the little American maid who is still fretting about Bill or John or Harry and his amours overseas to dry her eyes, for very few of the real old American born boys for generations have wedded foreign girls. "Made in America" is good enough for them!

yes, and cheerful frame of mind, held generally throughout the country. "Every American woman must realize this clearly, for on her will, to a great extent, devolve the duty of maintaining this attitude of mind. "Much is being done to provide each man, as he is discharged from service, with a job that suits his requirements. But a satisfactory job is only a part of what that man needs, for until he is as completely in tune with his home circle as he is with the business world, he cannot be happily and thoroughly readjusted to life here at home."

"The readjustment in the home is mainly a psychological one, and here lies the great test for the woman. Can she be patient and understanding and loyal enough to let the man make the most of his war development? It's not easy. She has been living for the moment of his return, and she has known that the joy and relief of having him back would be beyond words—but has she realized that he will have changed, that man of her's and that from his viewpoint many of the old familiar things will seem very strange? She must also remember that she has grown, too, during the time he has been away—and she has had to carry the burden alone of family responsibilities.

"They are both bigger and finer people, and they must grow together gradually after those months of separation. They will have to get accustomed to each other and their life together all over again."

"There are several million homes in this country where this problem must be faced in greater or less degree, and whether the difficult period of readjustment is long or short, happy or fraught with painful misunderstandings depends chiefly on the attitude of the women in those homes."

"The right handling of the situation calls for real strength of character and often firm self-control, but fortunately American women have proved that they possess these qualities in high degree."

"They will not fail to see and grasp this crowning opportunity of service to their men and to their nation."

"Has our client a good case?" Good for several thousand dollars,"—Boston Transcript.

Missouri Bride's Portrait a Prize Winner

THIS portrait of Mrs. Ruth Anderson, bride of Robert Anderson of Kansas City, was one of 14 photographs selected for the salon of the fiftieth golden anniversary of the Photographers of America, held at Cedar Point, O. Mrs. Anderson formerly was Miss Ruth Roeser, daughter of W. R. Roeser, Oklahoma oil man.

Each of the 1500 members of the photographers' organization was permitted to submit three examples. But each of the 14 winning pictures had to be from a different photographer. The 14 portraits will be exhibited at State convention of photographers this year.

The Sandman Story for Tonight.

By MRS. F. A. WALKER.

SPRING CLEANING—Part I.

IT was the first day of spring and Mr. Fox with an eye to business had set up a shop here where "Spring Cleaning Done Here."

All the animals came running along the path and stood looking at the sign. "I wonder what he means," said "Tim Coon." "I cannot bring my house over here."

"I think he means our clothes," said Billy Possum, "but my coat is so shabby that he would not leave a thing if he cleaned it."

Mr. Fox had been listening all the time to what they had said and finding out they did not understand his sign he came out to explain.

"Good morning, everybody," he said. "I wonder if you have all read that everyone should have a bath and a haircut when they come out in the springtime."

"It is a new fad, but it is good for your health as well as being stylish, so I have set up a shop here where I can take care of all who wish to be in style—as well as be clean."

Mr. Fox looked at each one as if to say, "You need a bath and haircut very much indeed, my friend."

Mr. Possum said he did not mind the haircut, but he felt sure the bath would not be good for his health, but that everyone should have a bath and a haircut when they come out in the springtime.

Mr. Possum fainted dead away when he was bathed, but when Mr. Fox began to cut his hair he came to with a vengeance and, jumping out of the chair, he started for the front door, but Mr. Fox was too foxy for that. He headed him off and made him go out of the back.

Mr. Coon did not mind the bath at all or the haircut, but when Mr. Fox said that his tail was badly in need of a good trimming, he too, ran out. Mr. Fox told him he thought the river the best place for him to bathe, but that his hair was a sight and he would advise him to have his coat trimmed out.

It was coming summer, so Mr. Bear told him to go ahead and when Mr. Fox finished, Mr. Bear looked as if he had lost 200 pounds.

The Business of Home Making

Eating for the Dog Days.

By Mrs. Christine Frederick, Author, "Household Engineering."

WHEN! The perspiration is streaming down your face, your husband has his handkerchief tucked well in his collar, and his bald head shines like a fringed doorknob, and you are surely heighten with rising temperature, and we curse the tax that makes a soft drink whistle away a quarter dollar; nothing tastes good, and we long for some new zebra steak, or polar bear chops, or anything different.

In the face of such heat, and loss of appetite, what can the poor housekeeper do? First, it will be easier to tell her what not to do, and briefly I will sum them up by saying: Banish the frying pan and the grease can for the next six weeks.

The worst cooking sin is to serve fried foods in which flour and sugar are ingredients—this means doughnuts and their tribe and pastry, and all such foods.

Again we find a large quantity of fat in such foods as cocoa, chocolate, cheese, etc. Munching chocolate, or eating excess candy of any kind will surely heighten the blood temperature, and many digestive disturbances of hot weather can be traced solely to overindulgence of sweets.

Very hot foods will make us feel hotter. I do not mean by this foods that are highly spiced with peppers, or condiments, but those which are merely served hot. I cannot see why more housekeepers do not serve cold foods in hot weather.

The Housewife's Scrapbook

SOME of those who have returned from overseas cannot relish our peas since eating those prepared by French cooks. If our housekeepers will just add to the peas a few (say three or four) lettuce leaves, torn into shreds, and the heart of an onion, besides the teaspoonful of sugar they would usually allow to a quart of shelled peas, they will be serving peas as they are cooked in France. But they must be cooked a certain way. Put the above ingredients into the saucepan and cover it. Shake it over the flame until the juices run from the lettuce, then cover with boiling water and cook until done and your returned hero will tell you, "That's the stuff."

If the alarm clock cannot be made to go take out the works and boil them in a strong soapy water to which add two teaspoonfuls of kerosene. Dry thoroughly, then oil with the kerosene, and when put together the clock will probably run well. Sometimes soaking the works in kerosene oil for 24 hours will accomplish the same result.

THE ROOM WITH THE TASSELS

By Carolyn Wells,

Author of "The Bride of a Moment," "Faulkner's Folly," Etc.

"H" E knew that," said Landon, "he told me he meant to have Vernie properly chastised and all that, this winter. She was a dear kiddie."

"Oh, she was," and Norma wept afresh.

"I am a complete convert to spiritualism, now," said the Professor, gravely. "I've thought over these things very deeply, I've considered every possible aspect of the case, and there is no explanation of those two mysterious deaths, except supernatural forces. It is no use to shrink the supposition of murder, indeed we must consider it carefully, but it is out of the question. Nobody could have compassed those two deaths in an instant of time, however secret or subtle the methods. Do you all agree?"

"Of course," said Eve, positively, and Tracy added, "That is undeniable. Professor, foul play was impossible. Moreover, there was no one here present but our own party. I can't let the implication pass that it could have been in the heart of any one of us."

"Nonsense!" interrupted Hardwick, "that's absurd, Mr. Tracy. When I speak of murder, it is in the abstract, and because it is right that we should consider the matter from every angle. We must even think of suicide, and of—"

"Suicide is as absurd as murder," said Landon, indignantly. "But what other atrocity had you in mind?"

"Don't lose your temper, please," the Professor said, mildly. "I am obliged to preserve an impersonal attitude, or I can't think at all! The other thought is that one of the victims killed himself and the other one."

"Please, Professor," said Eve, "at least confine yourself to rational common sense. But since you raise this absurd theory, let's settle it once and for all. Could Mr. Bruce have willingly killed himself and Vernie?" she asked of them all.

"No!" replied Landon. "Mr. Bruce was fond of life and he adored that child! Cut that out!"

"Then," pursued Eve, "could Vernie have killed herself and her uncle?"

"Rubbish!" cried Landon, "don't say such things, Eve. Professor, are you answered?"

"And remember," put in Tracy, "the two were the width of this hall apart. What means could have been employed?"

"What means were employed, anyway?" said Norma. "Oh, what did kill those people?"

"The utter absence of any material means proves the fact that it was supernatural," declared the Professor. "I only mentioned those other theories to prove their absurdity. Now, as I say, I am a convert to spiritualism in all its forms and phases. How can one help being after this? And I, for one, desire to stay here for a time and I feel sure that the departed spirits of our friends will communicate with us."

"I sure shudder at the idea, but Eve's wonderful eyes glowed with a sudden anticipation.

"Oh, Prof. Hardwick!" she exclaimed, "how splendid! Will you really stay here awhile? Will you, Milly? I can't stay unless you and Wynne do. Will you stay, Norma? and you, Mr. Tracy?"

"Oh, I can't!" Milly moaned. "I needn't need I, Wynne?"

"No; darling, not if you don't want to. I can't see, Eve, why you wish to stay here. It gives me the horrors to think of it. And if you really expect spiritual communications from Vernie or Mr. Bruce, you can receive them just as well anywhere else."

"Not just as well," demurred the professor, "the conditions here are ideal for investigations. We haven't taken it up seriously, you know."

"But, Miss Carnforth, can't you ask some other friends to come, if the Landon's prefer to return to New York? I don't doubt you know the right ones, who could chaperon you, and also take an interest in our work."

"Yes," began Eve, thoughtfully, and then Stebbins came into the room.

"The doctors through yet?" he asked, "what they found out?"

"No, they're not through yet," answered Landon. "Sit down, Stebbins, and talk a little bit. I wish you'd tell us of anything you know of your own experience, not hearsay, mind you, that has happened in this house, that can truly be called supernatural."

"Well, that haunted room—" "Wait a minute," interrupted Landon, "don't tell us anything about that haunted room that you don't know, personally, to be a fact."

"I know it's haunted," asserted Stebbins, doggedly. "I've slept there and I've seen ghosts spooking around in it."

"Do you think there are really such things as ghosts?" "I know it."

"And do you think they could be responsible for the death of Mr. Bruce and Miss Reid?"

"I know it. That Thorpe he says it's murder, but he can't guess how it could be. That fool of a Crawford, he don't know nothing of any sort. Wayburn, now, he's a fair doctor, but, good land! what can they learn from a post-mortem? Those people was warned, and them warnin's was carried out. What more's there to learn?"

About The Globe-Democrat's New Artgravure Picture Section

Here are just a few of the hundreds of letters and expressions of praise received by The Globe-Democrat:

Selden P. Spencer

U. S. Senator from Missouri.
"I have just seen the wonderful Artgravure Section of the GLOBE-DEMOCRAT for Sunday, August 10. I have never seen more beautiful and artistic newspaper work, either in the olive green, which is quite new to me, or in the sepia. All of the pictures are most attractive and some of them are gems worth framing."

W. L. Igou

United States Representative.
"When I heard that the GLOBE-DEMOCRAT would add to its Sunday edition an Artgravure Section I knew we would be favored with a valuable and high-class supplement. The first edition of this new section has just come into my hands, and in my opinion no other similar publication that I have seen excels it from any standpoint."

"The GLOBE-DEMOCRAT, by adding this pictorial section, has done a great service to its readers. I am sure the public generally will indicate promptly their appreciation of this effort and your enterprise will not only redound to the benefit of the paper, but will also bring a new distinction to St. Louis."

Paul V. Bunn

Secy. Chamber of Commerce.
"I am pleased to receive a copy of the Artgravure Section of the GLOBE-DEMOCRAT, dated August 10, and I want to compliment the GLOBE-DEMOCRAT, not only on account of the artistic appearance of this section, but on its progressiveness in making this addition to the paper. The mechanical and artistic work is exceedingly well done, and I am sure the readers of the paper will much appreciate this new step forward."

"The Chamber of Commerce is further interested in this matter, because of the fact that your decision to enter the picture field in this way had a great deal to do with the establishment in St. Louis of a branch plant of the American Lithographing Company."

Henry W. Kiel

Mayor of St. Louis.

"Your new Artgravure Section is, indeed, an additional interesting feature to your already excellent newspaper, and I am frank to say that it will be very attractive and will please many people, such as myself, who are extremely partial to pictures."

"I find a great deal of pleasure in reading the Sunday Magazine and Comic Section, and I think with the addition of this new Sunday Pictorial Section you have the most complete newspaper to be found anywhere."

Hans Hackel

Pres. Westliche Post Pub. Co.

"I deem it a privilege indeed to say a few words on your new enterprise, the adding of an Artgravure Section to your Sunday paper. The only trouble is, I do not know what to admire most—the artistic feature or the wonderful 'selection of subjects.'" showing that the GLOBE-DEMOCRAT is truly a paper for all the people. The whole supplement being a masterpiece of progressive journalism."

General Manager of St. Louis Star Praises New Artgravure Section

EDITOR OF GLOBE-DEMOCRAT: I spent several months in Germany, France and England, and in American cities, investigating the intaglio process as applied to newspaper production, and I am therefore very much interested by the GLOBE-DEMOCRAT'S adoption of it in St. Louis. The advance sections which you send me are very beautiful. I have seen no better examples of printing by this very intricate and difficult process. May I not express the hope, along with my congratulations, that the GLOBE-DEMOCRAT will use its best endeavors to keep the quality up to the standard set in its first issue? I am sure it will. Cordially yours,

B. E. Bradley,
General Manager, the St. Louis Star.

George W. Simmons

V. Pres. Simmons Hardware Co.

"Please accept my congratulations on the most excellent results from your newly-adopted Artgravure Section of the Sunday GLOBE-DEMOCRAT."

"Not only is the work artistically done, but your adoption of this policy is an evidence of your progress and that you are keeping up the best there is in daily journalism."

"I am glad to see a St. Louis paper produce a large and creditable picture section of this sort."

M. P. Linn

Gen. Mgr. St. Louis Republic.
"The Artgravure Section is very fine, indeed, and is a beautiful reproduction of the original. Readers should deem it a treasure."

Dr. H. L. Wolfner

St. Louis Board of Education.

"It was with great pleasure that I went over your Artgravure Section. Technically the pictures seem almost perfect and will be of tremendous educational value."

W. C. D'Arcy

Pres. D'Arcy Advertising Co.

"Personally I have always been in favor of these gravure sections. Some publishers have put out several that looked good, but they have not kept up their standard and each issue has deteriorated into a makeshift. I know the policy of the GLOBE-DEMOCRAT will be to improve rather than in any way to cheapen the news or the presentation of a week's accomplishment."

"Let me say at this minute as this artgravure feature comes to be more popular and more necessary as an evidence of progress that I think the daily newspaper itself is going to undergo some radical changes in order to keep up with new conditions. Generally speaking, the leading magazines lead today because they have put between their two covers real substance, editorial matter as well as art matter, and the advertising copy has been created by those who know how to put stories together, and to get typographical display as well as other features that would command attention."

Homer Bassford

Gen. Mgr. St. Louis Times.

"The new Artgravure Section of the GLOBE-DEMOCRAT is one of the best gravure sections published. 'The reproductions of famous paintings in the Art Museum are absolutely marvelous. I did not think it possible that a newspaper would be able to furnish its readers with such clever art work.'"

Chappelow Advertising Co.

"We have examined with much interest the first issue of your Artgravure Section and offer congratulations. 'From both artistic and mechanical standpoints this is a splendid example of reproduced photography, and it will unquestionably prove a popular feature of the Sunday GLOBE-DEMOCRAT. It will not only increase the pleasure and interest of your readers, but it also offers a very effective medium for advertisers.'"

St. Louis Globe-Democrat

With the Beautiful New Every-Sunday Feature

Artgravure Section

A peerless Picture Section whose rich beauty justifies its title of ARTGRAVURE. Filled with marvelous reproductions of photographs of notable people, scenes and events. Printed in exquisite tones of sepia brown and green, on special heavy paper of fine quality.

Among Next Sunday's Art Subjects Are the Following:

Beauty Spots in the Picturesque Ozarks. Printed in Nature's own color, green, these mountain and river scenes are gems that will appeal to all lovers of outdoors.

A Full Page of Theatrical Headliners. Yes, in their new plays. Among these stage favorites you will find Howard Chandler Christy's famous model for his Fourth Liberty Loan poster.

The Missouri Botanical Garden. Another magnificent page in green, which shows the noble Italian Garden, the Palm House, the Fern House and other views of marvelous plant life in this world-famous spot.

Moonshining in a Big City. Showing how some believers in preparedness got ready for the long drought, utilizing for their apparatus such homely utensils as the family wash tubs and wash boilers.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

THE OLD ALIBI.

"I am where I am today because I was lied to."—W. Hohenzollern.

When Second-Story Joe made bold
To burglarize a grocery store,
And Bill the porter caught him cold
And knocked him senseless to the floor,
He rose in court next day and wept.
"I never would be there," said he,
"On such an awful charge, except
A certain party lied to me.
A pal o' mine, Judge, on the dead,
Is who should be arrested for This crime they lay to me; he said
"There wasn't no one in that store!"

When Sure-Thing Harry sold a lot Of bogus stocks in bogus mines,
He was astonished when he got Assorted prison terms and fines.
"This is an outrage," he exclaimed.
"I made a slip, I won't deny.
But really, I should not be blamed,
I was the victim of a lie.
A shady broker in the Street
Said: "Do not mind the law one bit,
Just bunk 'em, and if you're discreet, You're sure to get away with it."

When Dog-Faced Donovan came to Upon the avenue at dawn
With both his eyes a rich dark blue
And seven of his molars gone,
He said: "Chee wizz, dat was some fix,
I got it worse than Willard, see?
But I'd not be in this here fix Except a feller lied to me.
I'd took no chances on the scrap
That I was wallowed in last night,
But some strange geezer said the chap
That I'd insulted wouldn't fight!"

THE HEIGHT OF LOYALTY.

Mr. Burleson will not resign while Wilson is President. He wants to spare his benefactor the trouble and worry of finding a successor for the head of the P. O. Department.

HELL REMEMBER WHAT HAPPENED.

The new Austrian Minister will not, like the old one, write home that this is a pacifist country on the say-so of W. J. Bryan.

DIFFERENCES, NO TO SPEAK.
Read what Paderevski says about some of his opposing fellow countrymen and you'll understand what is meant by the expression "as the Poles asunder."

No Facilities.

"I must have 1,000,000 rubles, right away," said the Bolshevik Minister of War.
"You'll have to wait a while," said the Bolshevik Minister of Finance.
"What's the trouble?"
"Our press has broken down."— Birmingham Age-Herald.

Handed Down.

"This furniture antique?"
"Yes."
"Did you inherit it?"
"In a way. My grandfather bought it from a man on the instalment and and I took over the payments."—Kansas City Journal.
